General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†), indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡), indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

Read carefully the instructions "How to remit," found at the bottom of this page.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which about 700,000 are assorted, forming the sales stock, and covering nearly every important Department, Bureau, and series. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Of many of the most valuable works only one or two copies remain.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the index to the Monthly catalogue will be issued separately each quarter, and will cumulate for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the index will be an index to the July to September Monthly catalogues, the December number will be an index to the July to December Monthly catalogues, the March number will be an index to the January to March Monthly catalogues, and the June index will be the index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Candian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or slick coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Attention is called to the change in the issuance of the Cumulative index to the Monthly catalogue. For information concerning the index see page 4.

Among the July, 1909, issues of the Government press is a document of more than passing interest and moment entitled Report of the commissioner of corporations on transportation by water in the United States. It is in two parts, each part being a thick volume. Part 1 has for subtitle General conditions of transportation by water, and Part 2 is entitled Water-borne traffic. A hasty examination of this report leaves the impression that it must be accepted for years to come as a standard collection of historic and economic facts on the very weighty subject with which it deals. The waterway question looms very large in the immediate future. One of the greatest railroad men of his time, James J. Hill, has put on record the opinion that there is not money enough nor iron enough to build railroads to handle the traffic of this country. The only recourse is water, and the country is waking up to the fact. The report from the Bureau of Corporations is therefore timely as well as otherwise valuable. Part 2 will be noted in the August Monthly catalogue.

Classification of expenditures for additions and betterments as prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for steam roads in accordance with section 20 of the act to regulate commerce is one of the July publications issued by the Commission.

The languages in which the Immigration and Naturalization Bureau now prints its Information for immigrants are English, German, Dutch, Flemish, Norwegian, Danish, Swedish, Italian, Spanish, French, Greek, Turkish, Syrian, Bulgarian, Roumanian, Slovak, Croatian, Slovenian, Bohemian, Polish, Ruthenian, Russian, Finnish, Magyar (Hungarian), Lithuanian, and Yiddish.

Chemistry Bureau Bulletin 126, on Harmful effects of acetanilid, antipyrin, and phenacetin, drugs which are sometimes used in headache remedies, declares that their use tends to depress the heart and nerves and lead to the drug habit.

In Forest Service Circular 166, Timber supply of the United States, answers are given to many questions that constantly recur, such as the extent of the forest reservations, private ownership within them, how the timber is cut, the outlook for the future, and so forth.

In the case of the United States, complaining against the Union Pacific Railroad Company, evidence is being taken before a special examiner in Chicago, Salt Lake, and other places. Seven volumes of this evidence have been printed.

Another big book is one of 1,328 pages containing the proceedings before and by direction of the President concerning the meaning of the term "whisky."

An Index to the reports of the Education Bureau for its first forty years, 1867–1907, has been issued by the Bureau. Some of the papers are indexed under the authors, and some under the subjects, but apparently none under both headings.

Forest Service Circular 163 tells us that only the wood known as paper birch is used for making spools; 43,000 cords of it are turned into spools in a single year. Other matters peculiar to the paper birch are told of in this circular.

Trees have their own diseases, and they appear to be rather numerous and often fatal. Plant Industry Bureau Bulletin 149, entitled Diseases of deciduous forest trees, does not perhaps tell all about these maladies, but it certainly tells a good deal.

A very practical document is Geological Survey Bulletin 370, Fire-resistive properties of various building materials.

The Annual report of the Education Bureau for 1908, 2 volumes, is out, with a great body of educational information not to be had elsewhere. Volume 1 appeared in the March, 1909, Monthly catalogue.

Copyright Office Bulletin 14 presents not only the new copyright law, but also the rules for practice and proceedings under it adopted and promulgated by the Supreme Court of the United States June 1, 1909.

A very handsome series of brief illustrated hand-books is in course of issue by the International Bureau of the American Republics. There is one for each republic, another for the capital city of each republic, and another for each of the principal products, those on cacao, coffee, cotton, nitrates, and rubber having been already issued.

Among other signs of industrial advancement in Government service are the advertisements of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, inviting proposals for the installment of vacuum cleaning systems in various public buildings throughout the country, and the coöperation of the Standards Bureau with France, Germany, and Great Britain in establishing an international unit of light to be known as the international candle. But the Bureau is careful to say that a unit is not the same as a standard.

DEPENDENT CHILDREN COMMISSION

Proceedings of the Conference on the Care of Dependent Children held at Washington, D. C., Jan. 25, 26, 1909, has been published, prefaced by a special message of the President recommending legislation desired by the conference, which was attended by many distinguished persons. Congress has not yet granted the legislation asked for.

TARIFF OF 1909

The new tariff bill, without index, was put to press in a pamphlet edition immediately after its passage to supply advance orders for several thousand copies. It had previously been printed only in bill form. An indexed edition will also be available by the time this catalogue reaches the readers, and will be sold at 15c.

PUBLIC HEALTH REPORTS

The Public health reports are issued weekly by the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service and contain advices in regard to the status of epidemics and other contagious diseases in the United States and other information relating to sanitation and the public health. Frequently special articles of much interest appear in this periodical. Some of the more recent of these are summarized as follows:

In the Public health report for July 9 appeared an article describing an epidemic of a peculiar skin eruption. This was investigated and the cause was discovered to be a small mite in the straw of mattresses. Investigation showed that only persons who had recently slept on new straw mattresses were attacked by the peculiar disease. Nearly a hundred or more cases were found, each of whom had slept on a new straw mattress.

In the report for July 16 appears an article describing the types of fleas observed in the antiplague inquiries being carried on in California. This article is a little more technical than the one first mentioned, but is of especial interest to entomologists and to sanitarians dealing with plague or residing at places apt to be involved in combating that virulent disease. It will be of interest also, though in less degree, to health officers and sanitarians not interested in the plague problem.

The report for July 23 contains an article describing the prevalence of pellagra in Italy and the measures taken for eradication. This article is of especial interest at the present time because of the many cases of pellagra now being found throughout the United States. Until quite recently it was supposed that this disease, long known in Europe, had not yet invaded this country, but during the last two years many cases have been found, and have continued to be found with increasing frequency and in an ever-widening area. The disease is supposed to be due to the eating of moldy corn or of meal made from such corn. It is very fatal in its effects, and as a public-health problem has forced itself into the front rank.

Other reprints from recent health reports are one on the campaign against ground squirrels in Contra Costa County, Cal., and one on the organization of an antituberculosis league by colored people in Georgia.

SUPREME COURT REPORTS

The reports of cases adjudged in the Supreme Court are not public documents, but perquisites of the reporter of the court, who publishes them through a private publishing house. He is required to sell them at $2 a volume and to supply to the Government 300 copies free. These are distributed by the Secretary of the Interior to certain officials specified in the law. The Government also buys 180 copies, which are distributed in like manner. A set of the reports from the beginning is made up as follows: Dallas, 4 v., 1790–1800; Cranch, 9 v., 1801–1815; Wheaton, 12 v., 1816–1827; Peters, 17 v., 1828–1843; Howard, 24 v., 1843–1860; Black, 2 v., 1861–1862; Wallace, 23 v., 1863–1874. Of these 91 vols., Peters's 17th duplicates Howard's 1st, and is therefore not counted. The publication of the series entitled United States Reports began in 1875 with vol. 91, and has been continued to the present time, the latest volume issued [1908] being the 212th. These make up the official series. Many unofficial reports and digests have also been issued.

ALEXANDRE VATTEMARE

Vattemare, born in Paris Nov. 8, 1796, had been a surgeon in the army and a traveling ventriloquist. The printed catalogue cards of the Library of Congress give him the title "Baron," but on what authority does not appear. He promoted a system of exchanging duplicates between European libraries which, according to his own estimate, resulted in bringing 2,000,000 unused volumes in service. In 1839, and again in 1847, he came to this country to carry on a similar promotion here. Through his agency many United States public documents were sent to France, and the number of books brought from Europe as gifts to this Government has been estimated at 300,000. He also brought over more than 1,000 historical medals. Vattemare died in Paris Apr. 7, 1864. For an account of his activities in connection with the United States Government, and a portrait, see Johnston's History of the Library of Congress, v. 1, p. 254–265.

WAIT'S STATE PAPERS

Though only one document (and that unimportant) relating to Wait's collection of State papers and public documents has been found in the Congressional series, it is well known that Congress bought numerous copies of the several editions, of which there were three, the first in 8 v., the second in 10 v., and the third in 12 v. The first issue, in 1814, began with Jefferson's administration. After 5 v. had been issued, bringing the record and date of printing down to 1815, a return was made to the beginning, and 3 v. of the papers of the administrations of Washington and John Adams were issued in 1815. These were made vols. 1–3 of the first edition, the volumes previously issued becoming vols. 4–8, with an index to the series in vol. 8. The 2d edition, issued 1817, carried the chronological record one volume farther and added a 10th volume made up of confidential documents, 1790–1813, not previously printed, this volume having its own index. The 3d edition, printed 1819, brings the record down to 1818. Only vols. 11 and 12, with index in vol. 12, are new matter. That this series is much less known and less used than Gales & Seaton's later and larger one under the name American state papers is no doubt due to the several facts that Wait covers but one subject, foreign relations, that its arrangement is chronological, with no classification, under countries or otherwise, and that it is insufficiently indexed. None of Wait's 30 volumes is included in the numbered Congressional series.

WHARTON'S INTERNATIONAL LAW

Wharton's Digest was first printed by authority of a resolution approved July 28, 1886, during the 1st session of the 49th Congress, the edition thus ordered being the "usual number" (1900) and 4,000 additional copies. The additional copies were issued without document number, but how the copies of the "usual number" were issued, if at all, is not clear. The sheep-bound volumes of the work (serial nos. 2350–52) should be part of this "usual number," but they are really part of a second edition, which was not ordered till the last day of the following session. This was Mar. 3, 1887, when Congress ordered a second issue of 4,000 additional copies. Dr. Wharton improved the opportunity of this second printing to make a second edition by correcting errors and adding an appendix, 165 p., of new and important matter. This second edition, ordered at the end of the 2d session, 49th Congress, appears in the numbered series as Senate mis. doc. 162, 1st session, 49th Congress.

NEW CRIMINAL CODE

The only portion of the new revision of the laws of the United States, going on for some ten years past, that has been accepted and enacted by Congress is the Criminal code which was passed in the closing hours of the 60th Congress and printed as Public act 350, 60th Congress, 2d session. Even this, it is now ascertained, is only temporary and not to be accepted as a permanent statute. The reason for this situation is the fact that through oversight an amendment which had been adopted by the Joint Committee on the Revision of the Laws was not incorporated in the act before printing. While this practically invalidates the act as passed, no harm has been done, because the act itself provides that it shall not become effective till Jan. 1, 1910, and it is intended that the missing amendment shall be passed by Congress very soon after the opening of the session in December. The nature and location in the act of the omitted amendment have not been made public.

NAVAL MEDICAL BULLETIN

From January 1, 1910, this new medical quarterly, issued by the Surgeon-General of the Navy, will be supplied to subscribers by the Superintendent of Documents at $1 a year, foreign subscribers paying 25 cents additional for ocean postage. For single numbers the price will be 25 cents at home and 31 cents abroad. The sale of single numbers, however, will not be encouraged, the purpose being to establish a permanent subscription list. Two volumes have been completed and three numbers have been issued of the third volume.

The fourth number, completing the volume, will be issued in October. The fourth volume will begin with the number for January, 1910, and subscriptions to begin at that date will be received at any time. The separate numbers of the Bulletin will average 100 pages or more, and each number has usually several plates. The extensive and varied practice of American naval surgeons in all parts of the world supplies an unlimited fund of original material upon which to draw for the contents of the magazine.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1 : 62,500, 1 : 125,000, and 1 : 250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

About one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, nearly every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

Wyoming, Fremont Peak quadrangle, lat. 43°–43° 30′, long. 109° 30′–110°. Scale 1 : 125,000, contour interval 100 ft. [Washington, Geological Survey] edition of Jan. 1909. 17.5×12.9 in. † 5c.

PATENT OFFICE

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes, the former at 5c. and the latter at $5.00. The former are not enumerated in this catalogue. For certified copies of patents, including specification, drawing, certificate, and grant, the price is 80c. A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10.00 per volume. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawings. These coupons are good until used. Address Chief Clerk, Patent Office.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, annual reports; 4, special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 1st session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which about 700,000 are assorted, forming the sales stock, and covering nearly every important Department, Bureau, and series. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Of many of the most valuable works only one or two copies remain.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the index to the Monthly catalogue will be issued separately each quarter, and will cumulate for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the index will be an index to the July to September Monthly catalogues, the December number will be an index to the July to December Monthly catalogues, the March number will be an index to the January to March Monthly catalogues, and the June index will be the index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or slick coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Senate document 150, 61st Cong. 1st sess., is an interesting letter from the Secretary of State submitting reasons why he had asked an appropriation of $100,000 to be used in foreign trade expansion.

Senate document 153, 61st Cong. 1st sess., is Senator Bacon's tabulation of tariff votes in the Senate. Here every Senatorial vote on every division or subdivision of the tariff question is shown.

An exceedingly practical Geological Survey Bulletin is no. 373, entitled Smokeless combustion of coal in boiler plants, with chapter on central heating plants. The Survey holds that smoking stacks are not only wasteful but needless.

Treaty series 518 is an agreement signed by 11 American powers to coöperate in measures for quarantine against cholera, plague, and yellow fever.

Circular 38 of the Plant Industry Bureau, discussing the probable introduction into this country of the currant rust of the white pine, incidentally reveals the interesting fact that the agitation for forest conservation has led to large importations of young trees from Europe for use in reforesting denuded tracts. The bulletin informs us that several million young white pines are thus brought in every year.

The Agriculture Department has started on the Truckee-Carson irrigation project in Nevada an experimental farm to demonstrate the proper use of irrigation and point the way to the best results under the new methods that are turning the arid plains into gardens. Bulletin 157, Plant Industry Bureau, tells all about it. Price 10 cents.

In one of the first cases under the Federal employers' liability law (Hoxie v. N. Y., N. H. & Hartford Railroad Co.), the Connecticut Supreme Court has decided that Congress has no power to compel State courts to assume jurisdiction of cases arising under this Federal law.

Treasury decisions, vol. 17, Jan.–June, 1909, has been issued in the usual form. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.50 in full leather binding.

The Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture, 1908, is now on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.25 in cloth binding. It is one of the most attractive issues of the series, containing several colored plates and the contents being practical and timely.

A new pamphlet from the War Department describes the eight camps of instruction which the Government now maintains for the training of the regular Army and the State National Guard. The camps are in New York, Indiana, Texas, Wyoming, Georgia, Washington State, Kansas, and California.

For many years past the Hydrographic Office, Navy Department, has issued monthly pilot charts for the north Atlantic and the north Pacific, showing currents, derelicts, icebergs, storm tracks, steamer routes, etc. The Office has now begun similar series for the south Atlantic and the south Pacific. These, however, are issued only quarterly. The September issue of the north Pacific chart has printed on its back an exhaustive treatise on cyclonic storms. Similar treatises on marine subjects appear on all the charts, and recently these have been reprinted in pamphlets under the series title Reprints of hydrographic information from Pilot charts and Hydrographic bulletin. Six such pamphlets have been issued, and though they are not imposing in size they embody the latest knowledge of the Hydrographic Office, known for generations as a trustworthy repository of sea lore.

The criminal code of the new revision of the United States laws, which was passed in the closing hours of the 60th Congress and was published as Public [act] 350 of the 2d session of that Congress, has now been published in a covered pamphlet with side notes and an appendix "containing references to all laws of a general nature, permanent in character, in force Dec. 1, 1908, having penal provisions not properly separable from the administrative provisions, not contained in the criminal code but embraced in the general revision of the laws of the United States." This edition is sold by the Superintendent of Documents for 20 cents. A note in the July catalogue spoke of the necessity for amending the new code before it can become operative.

A new War Department circular in pamphlet form shows the distribution of the troops of the regular Army from 1866 to 1909—43 years. It enables one to trace quickly the service of any or all of the army organizations.

The Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service has issued the fourth of its Studies upon leprosy.

The new tariff on imports into the Philippine Islands has been published as Public [act] 7 of the 61st Cong. 1st sess., and also in pamphlet form, with index, repertory, and appendix. The provisions relating to the admission of Philippine products into this country free of duty are contained in the new United States tariff law.

A study of the Iloco language is the title of War Department document 327. Iloco is one of the numerous languages of the Philippines.

The reports of the annual conventions of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists are always in active demand. The reports of the 24th and 25th conventions, held in 1907 and 1908, were reprinted in Aug. 1909, and are on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 20c. for 1907 and 40c. for 1908.

Some things that the grower of cereal and forage crops should know about insects is the title of a most interesting paper in the new Yearbook, and printed also in a separate pamphlet. It points out that outbreaks of destructive insects are not mysterious visitations of Providence, but the results of natural causes. One of the most potent causes is farming itself, which seeks to destroy many plants that are the natural homes of insects and to substitute other plants which are even more satisfying to insect taste. Insect inroads may not be altogether prevented, but they may be largely controlled and minimized by the intelligent farmer who will follow the advice given him in this treatise. The pamphlet print of it is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. It is only one of many of equal value in the 1908 Yearbook.

The Geographic Board sometimes reverses itself, as even more grave and reverend bodies also do at times. In the newly issued pamphlet containing the decisions of the Board from July, 1908, to July, 1909, is one withdrawing a former decision and giving the citizens of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., permission to go on compounding their local name as they have done for the century or more of their municipal existence. The people of that city would certainly have done so no matter what the ruling of the Board might have been, because their name is a point of patriotic pride very dear to them. The name is made by compounding the surnames of John Wilkes and Isaac Barre, two members of the British Parliament in the days of the American Revolution who were friendly to the Revolutionists.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued an order forbidding steam roads to destroy the records of their transactions.

Geological Survey Bulletin 380, being part 1 of Contributions to economic geology for 1908, is now issued. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents for 40c.

Latin America, the land of opportunity, is a new pamphlet from the Bureau of American Republics, illustrated in the brilliant style which has of late made the Bureau's monthly Bulletin conspicuous among public documents.

Waterborne traffic, which is part 2 of the Report of the commissioner of corporations on transportation by water in the United States, is one of the month's notable issues. It has over 400 pages and 5 maps and is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c.

An official list of the new House committees, which were appointed by Speaker Cannon in the closing hours of the recent session, with the location of the committee rooms, their telephone numbers and their meeting days, has just been issued.

The 5th edition of that invaluable marine manual, Coaling, docking, and repairing facilities of the ports of the world, has been issued by the Naval Intelligence Office.

The Report of the delegates of the United States to the Pan-American Scientific Congress at Santiago de Chile Dec. 25, 1908, to Jan. 5, 1909, is published. The United States sent a strong delegation which apparently made a deep impression, for the Congress voted unanimously to hold its next session in Washington in 1912. The Report is only an outline of the proceedings and does not give the text of any of the numerous scientific papers that were presented.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The final semi-monthly index (No. X) for the Congressional record, vol. 44, 61st Cong. 1st sess., was issued Aug. 10, indexing numbers 99 to 111, July 19 to Aug. 6. As the session had ended Aug. 5, the uninitiated might be excused for believing that the conclusion of volume 44 had been reached. Not so. No. 112 appeared with the date Aug. 17 and No. 113 dated Sept. 1. These belated numbers of course did not contain any proceedings of Congress, but were made up of speeches which had been withheld for revision by their authors. They contain some of the most important tariff speeches of the many important ones of the session. No more numbers of vol. 44 will be issued.

No. 112 (price 6c.) contains speeches by Senators Elkins and Beveridge and several Representatives. No. 113 (price 16c.) has speeches by Senators Aldrich and Dick and elaborate tables of tariff increase and decrease prepared by the Manufactures and Statistics bureaus.

The bound copies of vol. 44, containing the speeches in their chronological order as they were spoken and a consolidated index in one book, have not yet been issued, but may be expected soon.

CONSERVATION REPORT

A 3-volume document to which a number of scientists of established reputation have contributed is Senate doc. 676, 60th Cong. 2d sess., Report of the National Conservation Commission, the entry for which appeared in the July, 1909, Monthly catalogue. Because of the small number printed, the supply of this document for distribution by sale is very limited. There is an especially active demand for Professor Irving Fisher's paper entitled National vitality, its wastes and conservation. This is printed in the 3d volume of the Conservation report, pages 620–751. An edition of 5000 copies of this paper has been separately printed as Bulletin 30 of the Committee of One Hundred on National Health. This committee, of which Professor Fisher is president, is not a Government body, but a creation of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Its Bulletin 30 is therefore not a United States public document, though it is extracted from a public document. The 5000 edition is offered for sale by the Committee of One Hundred at $1 for paper-covered copies and $2 for copies in cloth binding, the receipts to go toward the support of the health conservation work of the Committee. Remittances should be made to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, 176 Broadway, New York, which is the treasurer of the Committee. The United States Geological Survey is doing something toward meeting the popular demand for the Conservation Report by printing in a cheaper form the papers which were contributed by members of the Survey. Nine of them are grouped in Bulletin 394 under the title Conservation of mineral resources and the others in Water-supply paper 234 under the title Conservation of water resources. The full Conservation report, in 3 vols., paper covers, will be sold in sets only by the Superintendent of Documents (as long as it lasts) at $1.95 for the set.

SENATE PRECEDENTS

Senate document 129, of the 61st Congress, 1st session, is a publication which must be valuable to many and should be interesting to all. Its full title is Precedents, decisions on points of order, with phraseology, in the United States Senate, from the First Congress to end of the Sixtieth Congress—1789 1909; compiled by Henry H. Gilfry, chief clerk of the United States Senate. The book will no doubt at once become a standard manual of parliamentary practice, but its chief effect on the life and manners of the American people—and a very considerable effect it may be is likely to come from part 2, entitled Phraseology. Here are given all the formal phrases in which and by which the business of the Senate is carried on.

CORPORATION TAX

The new provisions imposing a tax on the earnings of corporations are not contained in a separate law as many people seem to suppose. They are a part of the new tariff law. The forms for making returns by corporations are being prepared in the Internal Revenue Bureau, and that is the bureau which will collect the tax.

NEW SERIES

The Government Hospital for the Insane, better known to Washington residents as St. Elizabeth's, has begun the issue of a series of numbered bulletins. No. 1, issued in July, contains 10 papers on psychiatric subjects.

A CENTURY'S GROWTH

The special census report entitled A century of population growth from the first census of the United States to the twelfth, 1790–1900, the entry for which appeared in the July, 1909, Monthly catalogue, is something more than a collection of statistical tables. It gives much incidental historical matter, reproductions of ancient maps, illustrative diagrams and facsimiles, analyses of the statistics, discussions of such topics as interstate migration, surnames, nationality, changes of boundary, etc., making altogether a reference book of uncommon interest and value. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.10 in blue cloth.

NOTABLE REPORTS AND ADDRESSES

A list, continued from the July Monthly catalogue, of a few of the notable reports and addresses that have been made to Congress, showing where they may be found in the "sheep set":

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE.—The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios, whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see next page.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

About one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, nearly every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 1st session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which about 700,000 are assorted, forming the sales stock, and covering nearly every important Department, Bureau, and series. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Of many of the most valuable works only one or two copies remain.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

Monthly Catalogue Distribution

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the index to the Monthly catalogue will be issued separately each quarter, and will cumulate for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the index will be an index to the July to September Monthly catalogues, the December number will be an index to the July to December Monthly catalogues, the March number will be an index to the January to March Monthly catalogues, and the June index will be the index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or slick coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Senate documents 154, 155, 156, and 157, 61st Congress, 1st session, are all comparisons of the new tariff with the Dingley and other superseded tariffs, and these are by no means all the sets of comparative tariff tables that have been recently issued.

In National Museum Proceedings 1695 we have a pretty picture, in natural colors, of the mouse deer of the Malay Archipelago, which is said to be the smallest of the deer family and hardly larger than a rabbit.

Treatment of hookworm disease, by Dr. Ch. Wardell Stiles, is a small pamphlet of unusual importance reprinted from Public health reports, vol. 24, no. 34. Dr. Stiles holds that the discovery of the American hookworm and a successful method of repelling it is the most beneficial result of the War with Spain.

Hookworm disease in its relation to the negro is a small pamphlet containing an abstract of an address delivered before the Hampton Negro Conference by Dr. Ch. Wardell Stiles, discoverer of the American hookworm, the cause of a wasting and formerly a mysterious disease in the United States and Porto Rico. The abstract is printed also in Public health reports, vol. 24, no. 31, July 30, 1909. Dr. Stiles gave a plain talk about the evils of this disease and the careless practices by which it is spread.

The series of Farmers' bulletins issued by the Agricultural Department, now numbering nearly 400 distinct publications, continues to be extremely practical in character. Farm management in northern potato-growing regions (365), How to destroy rats (369), and Harmfulness of headache mixtures (377), are recent titles.

The form of the House manual, formerly a document octavo, 9×6 inches, has been cut down to a pocket-size quarto, 6×4½, but about the same thickness as before. In its present size it is doubtless more convenient and practical than before.

Investigation of petroleum and natural gas in 1908 is an advance chapter from Geological Survey Bulletin 381, entitled Contributions to economic geology, 1908, pt. 2. This part will be devoted entirely to the consideration of fuels. Part 1 is entitled Metals and nonmetals, except fuels.

Production of petroleum in 1908, by Dr. David T. Day, the petroleum expert of the Geological Survey, is a separately printed chapter from the forthcoming volume, Mineral resources of the United States, calendar year 1908. Dr. Day says that despite many untoward circumstances the petroleum production of 1908 broke all records, amounting to 179,572,749 barrels of 42 gallons each, valued at $129,706,258. The increase over the previous year came mainly from Illinois and California. Oklahoma led all the other States, producing 45,798,765 barrels. California was 2d and Illinois 3d, the last-named making the greatest gain over the preceding year.

Plant Industry Bureau's new Bulletin 141, part 5, discusses the mysterious chestnut bark disease by which so many fine trees have latterly been destroyed.

Bulletin 216 of the Experiment Stations Office describes irrigation in Idaho, a State which holds a remarkable record for the extent and success of its irrigating projects.

Forest Service Circular 167, The status of forestry in the United States, gives a most hopeful view of the progress of a great economical reform, which apparently has lived down the strong opposition that it encountered at first.

Ethnology Bureau Bulletin 41 has for title The antiquities of Mesa Verde National Park, and for subtitle Spruce-tree House. The ruin thus named is the largest of all the remains of the habitations of the cliff-dwellers. Its inhabitants must have been equal to a whole village.

A new edition of Naturalization laws and regulations, dated Aug. 17, 1909, but issued in September, supersedes all previous editions.

Volume 37, Land decisions, was issued during September. It is bound in buckram and sold by the Superintendent of Documents for $1.75.

Announcement has been made jointly by the Commerce and Labor Department and the Civil Service Commission concerning examinations for appointment in the 13th decennial census. The examinations will be held October 23d, 1909, at a large number of places throughout the country. For a list of these places and other information, address the Civil Service Commission.

A new War Department publication is entitled Acts of Congress, treaties, proclamations, decisions of the Supreme Court, and opinions of the Attorney-General relating to noncontiguous territory, Cuba, and Santo Domingo, Mar. 4, 1905–June 1, 1909.

Census Bulletin 103 gives the statistics of religious bodies in the United States in 1906. Among the publications of the 11th census was a volume entitled Churches. These two are believed to be the only publications of the United States devoted primarily to giving information concerning religious organizations.

Those who have a notion of seeking employment on the Panama Canal may save themselves trouble and probable disappointment by first writing to the Isthmian Canal Commission at its Washington office, for a copy of its newly issued pamphlet entitled Manual of information concerning employments for service on the Isthmus of Panama.

Provisional small arms firing manual is a September publication of the War Department, sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c.

By proclamation dated Sept. 21, 1909, President Taft has added another to the remarkable series of natural national monuments.

The new one is in Wyoming and its official name is Shoshone Cavern national monument. The proclamation says that the cavern is "of unknown extent but of many windings and ramifications and containing vaulted chambers of large size magnificently decorated with sparkling crystals and beautiful stalactites and containing impenetrable pits of unknown depth," and declares it to be "of great scientific interest and value to the people of the United States."

North American fauna 29, Rabbits of North America, is a September publication of the Biological Survey which has sprung into immediate popularity. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents in paper covers, 50c.

Plant Industry Bureau has published a very small pamphlet (numbered 477) on the cultivation of the American ginseng plant, which is now on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c a copy. The number of American cultivators who want information concerning ginseng has always been very large, but the amount of material on the subject published by the Agriculture Department has been very small. It is understood that the action of the Department has been based upon its belief that the plant is of little or no use and that the fancy prices received for its roots and seeds are meretricious and represent no real value. The action of the multitude of seekers for official ginseng literature is no doubt due to the facts, now stated in the new publication, that the price of dried ginseng roots for Chinese medicine ranges from $5.75 to $6.50 a pound, and that roots for transplanting bring from 25 cents to $10.00 a hundred, and that the seed also brings a high price. Perhaps some of the inquirers do not know that it takes from 5 to 7 years to get a crop from the seed and that the plant at all times requires very careful and skillful cultivation.

A new edition of Drill regulations for coast artillery has been received by the Superintendent of Documents. Price 60c.

Vol. 36, Proceedings of the National Museum, is now ready. Price $1.00 in cloth binding.

Geological Survey Bulletin 360, Pre-Cambrian geology of North America, issued in September 1909, is a revision and enlargement of Bulletin 86, issued 1892. The present work fills nearly a thousand pages, and is a summary of the existing knowledge on its subject. The authors are President Van Hise of Wisconsin University and Professor Charles Kenneth Leith. Bulletin 360 is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 75c a copy.

The long-awaited first part of the 40-year special report on Marriage and divorce, prepared by the Census Bureau, has just been received. Part 2 was issued in 1908. It contained the general tables and little text. Part 1 has a good deal of text, summarizing and illustrating the tables, and summarizing also the marriage and divorce laws of all the States and of foreign countries, the whole preceded by an informing introduction. The work is bound in cloth, and copies may be bought from the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 for Part 1 and $1.50 for Part 2.

Some persons will no doubt find the most interesting publication of the month to be Professional paper 56 of the Geological Survey, entitled Geology and ore deposits of Goldfield, Nev. It is a quarto of 258 pages, profusely illustrated with plates and maps, and sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00.

Mr. Gaillard Hunt's History of the seal of the United States, after some months of unanticipated delay, has at last been issued. Mr. Hunt in 1892 prepared a pamphlet bearing the same title and it was published by the State Department. The present history is more complete, and Mr. Hunt's well-earned reputation for thoroughness and accuracy in American historical studies will give the work standing at once. It has been very carefully and excellently printed at the Government Printing Office.

PELLAGRA

Articles in the Public health reports for Sept. 10 and Sept. 17 concerning pellagra have been the cause of many inquiries for these numbers. Pellagra is a disease which is apparently to play a baleful part in the health annals of the country. Already the investigations of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service seem to have overthrown the formerly accepted theory that the cause of the disease was eating mouldy corn, but no new theory has been brought forward. The Superintendent of Documents has a limited supply of the Public health reports for Sept. 10 and Sept. 17 (vol. 24, nos. 37 and 38), for sale at 5c each.

SPECIAL CONSULAR REPORT 40

In 1907 Special consular report 40 was issued with the title Motor machines. In 1908 Special consular report 40, part 2, was issued with the same title. Now comes Special consular report 40, with the title Soya bean. Librarians will need to take some care to prevent mix-ups, and to note also the fact that between no. 40 of 1907 and no. 40 of 1909 several special consular reports were issued without series title or number.

CONSERVATION BULLETINS

In addition to its three-volume report, which contains Professor Irving Fisher's report entitled The national vitality, its wastes and conservation, and many other valuable papers from expert hands, the National Conservation Commission has published four bulletins. Nos. 1, 2, and 3, issued in June, July, and August, 1908, were not printed, but mimeographed. The editions, consequently, were not large, but in Bulletin 4, recently printed, Bulletins 1, 2, and 3 are summarized, so that all four are now available. Bulletin 4 contains also the Report of the National Conservation Commission without the accompanying papers, lists of the members of the Commission and of the Joint Conservation Conference of December, 1908, the schedule of inquiries sent out by the Commission when gathering information for its Report, and other interesting matter.

The Commission has no appropriation from the Government, but is carrying on its work nevertheless. Its headquarters are at 43 Wyatt Building, Washington, where applications for copies of Bulletin 4 should be addressed.

SUDWORTH'S TREES OF THE PACIFIC SLOPE

In the Monthly catalogue for January, 1909, the statement was made that Sudworth's Trees of the Pacific Slope, a work of 441 pages then recently published and extensively called for by correspondents in every part of the country, was not available for distribution, having been withdrawn from publication by the Agriculture Department.

This statement was correct at the time, but a change of plan has followed. Mr. Sudworth's remarkable book has been formally published and, in addition, a large edition has been printed for sale by the Superintendent of Documents. The price has been fixed at 60 cents.

The Trees of the Pacific Slope is the first part of what is planned as a very extensive work to give the description and classification of the trees in all parts of the country.

NORTHWESTERN BOUNDARY

The full report of the American members of the joint English and American Northwestern Boundary Commission was transmitted to the State Department in October, 1869, but was not printed and is now lost. Some humiliating results have followed this loss. For all available information, see Geological Survey bulletin 174, by Marcus Baker, published in 1900. This is also published as H. doc. 748, 56th Cong. 1st sess., in serial volume 3952.

INVESTIGATION OF INSECTS AFFECTING STORED PRODUCTS

The Bureau of Entomology is engaged in a special investigation of insects which infest stored products, and more particularly such as injuriously attack stored cereals and cereal products. During recent years many complaints are being made of injury to flour in flour mills, in cars used in transportation, in the holds of vessels, and at the ports of destination as well as outgoing ports in this country. Much trouble and very considerable money loss have been occasioned, and the desire for additional information on this topic has been expressed in many quarters, more especially in the Southwest. Inquiries which reach beyond anything that has been published and which entail a knowledge of the complete life history, including the most minute details, of several species of insects which affect flour are frequently received.

Information is therefore requested by the Bureau of what is new, unusual, or of general interest, and correspondence is invited from persons who suffer from the presence of insects which affect flour and other mill products and stored grain. The Bureau has recently issued a circular letter inviting the aid of its correspondents.

Communications should be accompanied in all cases by specimens of the insects concerned in the attack, with a complete statement, as concise as possible, concerning the conditions.

NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

The amendment to the Constitution of the United States, passed finally July 12 last as Senate joint resolution 40, does not appear in the list of joint resolutions of the 61st Congress, 1st session, which has been printed in the slip-law form. The reason for the omission is that Senate joint resolution 40 is really not a joint resolution at all. Joint resolutions are signed by the President. Resolution 40 was not so signed, because the Constitution provides that Congress alone shall propose amendments of the Constitution to the States for ratification by the Legislatures. The newly proposed amendment seeks to so change the Constitution as to remove the objection raised by the Supreme Court to the income tax contained in the Wilson tariff law passed in 1894. It is the first amendment of the Constitution since the war amendments of more than 40 years ago. It will be printed in the forthcoming volume of the Session laws of the 61st Congress, 1st session, and also in the Statutes at large, vol. 36, but in a class by itself, not as a law or joint resolution.

The new amendment will, if ratified by three-fourths of the States, be Article 16 of Amendments, and read thus: "Article XVI. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States and without regard to any census or enumeration."

NOTABLE REPORTS AND ADDRESSES

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE.—The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios, whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see page 120.

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

About one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, nearly every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

Arizona, Roosevelt quadrangle, lat. 33° 30′–34°, long. 111°–111° 30′. Scale 1:125,000, contour interval 100 ft. [Washington, Geological Survey] edition of Mar. 1909. 17.5×14.7 in. † 5c.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 1st session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which about 700,000 are assorted, forming the sales stock, and covering nearly every important Department, Bureau, and series. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Of many of the most valuable works only one or two copies remain.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or slick coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Circular 85 of the Experiment Stations Office, Agriculture Dept., takes up a most interesting subject, namely, Farmers' institutes for women. Farmers' institutes for men have been carried on for years by both Federal and State departments of agriculture, but it took a good while for the authorities to see the propriety of trying to do for women in the home what so long had been done for men in the field. Now, however, the work has been taken up earnestly and actively. Twenty-one States carried on such institutes during 1908 under State authority. As it is estimated that there are 13,000,000 women in the farming districts, the field for institute work in domestic science and household art is wide. Perhaps some reader may not know just what a farmers' institute is. It is simply another name for a free school. The expert teachers, employed usually by the State departments of agriculture, go about from one community to another, holding short terms of school, one, two, or three days and sometimes longer, delivering lectures, giving demonstrations of the latest improvements in farming methods, and answering all answerable questions that the assembled farmers may propound. They get around again to the same communities at least once every year, and sometimes twice or even oftener. Farmers' institutes are now organized in every State and nearly every Territory. Though their great value is recognized, expert writers on the subject hold that they are capable of much greater development and wider influence. The establishment of institutes for women seems to be a long step toward the complete development of the institute system.

Bulletin 60, Soils Bureau, Agriculture Dept., is entitled Preliminary report on the Volusia soils, their problems and management, and is a most important and interesting inquiry. The word Volusia is not a technical term for a variety of soil, but is the name of a small village in Chautauqua County, western New York, where the inquiry into the character and condition of the hill soils of deteriorated or abandoned farms began. Of these lands, once fertile but now almost nonproductive, the author of Bulletin 60, Mr. M. Earl Carr, estimates that there are more than 10,000,000 acres in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, and he finds that the fault lies with the farmer rather than with the farms. Their redemption is considered feasible.

Among the publications of the month are several uncovered pamphlets, each containing a report or special article reprinted from the Annual report of the Office of Experiment Stations for 1908. Some of the titles are (abbreviated): Animal nutrition problems; Farmers' institutes, 1908; Alluvial lands of lower Mississippi Valley and their drainage. Many papers of similar interest are published in each issue of this valuable annual report.

Bulletin 84, Entomology Bureau, has a title which may have a taking sound for both apple-growers and apple-eaters, namely, Fumigation of apples for San Jose scale.

Circular 6, Publications Division, describes the publications of the Agriculture Department and tells how they are distributed.

From the United States Geological Survey comes a new price list of the topographic maps and folios and the geologic folios. The topographic sheets now number 1848.

The Naval medical bulletin, a quarterly magazine issued from the Medicine and Surgery Bureau, Navy Dept., of which the Surgeon-General, U. S. N., is chief, is growing in size as well as in interest. No. 4 of vol. 3 is the current number.

Two new editions of General Land Office circulars are entitled Unappropriated public lands of the United States and Desert land laws.

Index-catalogue of the library of the Surgeon-General's Office, 2d series, vol. 14, Prussian-Rzehak, is entered in this Catalogue, and copies are also on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at $2.00 each.

Various reports by special agents and consular officers have been collected and printed in one pamphlet under the title The jute industry. The Manufactures Bureau, by which this compilation is published, is especially interested in giving it a wide circulation because of the fact that this country imports jute products from Scotland and other countries to three times the value of our own manufactures of this fiber.

Opinions of the assistant Attorneys-General for the Post-Office Department, volumes 3 and 4, covering the periods Mar. 18, 1892–Oct. 24, 1905, and Oct. 25, 1905–June 26, 1908, are now issued.

The new List of wireless telegraph stations of the world, corrected to Sept. 1, 1909, including shore stations, merchant vessels, revenue cutters, and vessels of the United States Navy, can be had only from the Superintendent of Documents, price 15c.

American nautical almanac, 1910, has been issued in a 2d edition and is now in plentiful supply in the stock of the Superintendent of Documents. Paper covers, price 30 cents.

Session laws, 61st Congress, 1st session (Statutes passed at 1st session of 61st Congress), is now issued in paper covers, and sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50 cents a copy. It contains the new United States tariff, the Philippine tariff, the Census law, and so forth.

Tests of metals, 1908, is just issued and offered for sale by the Superintendent of Documents. Paper, $1.00; cloth, $1.25.

The New York Sun has this to say of a new public document: "Rich spoils of folklore have been gathered by Mr. John R. Swanton from the Indians at Sitka and Wrangel. They are gathered in 'Tlingit Myths and Texts,' forming Bulletin 39 of the Bureau of American Ethnology (Government Printing Office, Washington). No less than 106 stories were taken down in English, many quite long, and of eighteen of these the Tlingit text is printed with a word for word translation. Besides these legends Mr. Swanton secured speeches at a tobacco feast, speeches at the erection of a pole for the dead, and graphophone records of 103 songs, the words of which are here printed. It is a book that all interested in Indian folklore will want."

EXPERIMENT STATION RECORD

The new plan of publishing the Record in semi-annual volumes, each volume containing two special or abstract numbers in addition to the regular monthly numbers, has resulted in a notation that may confuse subscribers and librarians if not explained. Two numbers dated September, 1909, have been issued, one numbered vol. 21, no. 3, the other vol. 21, no. 4. The latter has on its cover in brackets the words [Abstract number] and is entirely filled with abstracts of recent publications, American and foreign, relating to one or more agricultural and economic subjects, of which such a wide range is treated by the Record. No. 3 is the regular monthly number, and carries the editorial matter of the month, which for this number is limited to a single article. Frequently the editorials are more numerous and on occasion are supplemented by special articles by expert authorities. A similar abstract number may be expected in December, which presumably will be numbered 8. The abstract numbers are paged continuously with the regular numbers, so that when the covers are taken off and the volume bound no line of distinction between the numbers will be visible.

It has been decided to publish for each semi-annual volume a subject index and a name index, in one pamphlet. There will consequently be 9 pamphlet numbers in each volume, or 18 numbers in the year.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION REPORTS

Vol. 16 is now current and is being supplied by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.50 in buckram and $2.00 in full law sheep. It includes the decisions of April, May, and June, 1909, with index. The index is also issued separately in a pamphlet.

LAND OFFICE CIRCULARS

Some of the smaller publications of the General Land Office, known in that office as circulars, which are supplied free by the Land Office and its branches, are also supplied to the Superintendent of Documents for sale at the cost of printing to those who may find it more convenient and satisfactory to get these documents, as they do others, through this office. These small documents are usually sold at 5c. a copy.

MISSISSIPPI WATERWAY REPORT

H. doc. 50, 61st Congress, 1st session, is a Report by a special board of engineers on a survey of the Mississippi River from St. Louis, Mo., to its mouth with a view to obtaining a channel 14 feet deep. When finally published, the document, which has 532 pages of text, will also have a number of illustrations. These have not yet been received, and publication is delayed while awaiting them. In the meantime, however, to meet urgent demands for the report, the 600 copies composing the "up number" have been released and sent to the Capitol for distribution on the order of Senators and Representatives. These 600 copies are not intended as a distinct edition, but libraries into which they may come will necessarily so class them, as a book with illustrations and a book without them cannot be considered identical copies.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

Vol. 44 of the Record, containing verbatim reports of the tariff debates which made the 1st session of the 61st Congress so absorbingly interesting to the country, has now been issued in its permanent form. It fills six great quarto books, five of which are known as "parts," parts 1–5 containing the proceedings, the 6th book being an index volume. The several parts making up vol. 44 are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents at the following prices: Pt. 1, $1.75; pt. 2, $2.00; pt. 3, $1.75; pt. 4, $1.75; pt. 5, $1.65; index, $1.65.

JOURNAL OF THE UNITED STATES ARTILLERY

This bi-monthly magazine, issued for nearly 17 years past from the Artillery School Press (now the Coast Artillery School Press) at Fort Monroe, Va., has puzzled the Documents Office to establish its status as either a public document or a private publication. The Superintendent of Documents is required to enter in the official catalogues all public documents of the United States, and is not authorized to catalogue any others. Usually status as a document is determined by the answer to the question whether or not it is printed at Government cost and by authority of a qualified Government official. This magazine is printed at a Government press and published under the supervision of a Government board, these facts appearing in plain print on its title page, and this supervision having been directed by the War Department in General order 181, issued Oct. 20, 1906. These are characteristics of a public document. On the other hand, the acting editor gives assurance that "the Journal has always been considered a private publication," and each number has been copyrighted. The Act of Jan. 12, 1895, provides that public documents shall not be copyrighted. The Copyright Office has declined to pass an opinion upon the status of the Journal, saying that its function is merely to record claims to copyright, not to guarantee such claims or decide knotty points. All of this information still leaves it somewhat in doubt as to who is to enforce the law which declares that public documents shall not be copyrighted, and also leaves the Superintendent of Documents in as much doubt as ever concerning the document status of the Journal of the United States Artillery. The entry for the Journal will however be omitted from the catalogues published by the Documents Office.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE INDEX

The first number of the separately printed, quarterly, cumulative index to the Monthly catalogue of United States public documents, bearing date September, 1909, was issued in October. This is the form of index unanimously approved and desired by the American Library Association, as determined at its meeting held in June, 1909. The chief merit of this form over the monthly form printed with the catalogues is that it permits of an earlier issue of the Monthly catalogues, and is also more economical, because requiring a smaller number of cumulations. That the Monthly catalogue is hardly usable without some kind of a cumulative index has been pretty positively determined by the experiments that have been tried in its various forms of publication.

CONSULAR REPORTS, ANNUAL SERIES

This series of pamphlets has been discontinued. It was not made up of independent publications, but of reports written for the annual volume of Commercial relations, 1907, and printed in advance to make the information earlier available. Commercial relations, 1907, being now complete (though not yet issued), no occasion exists for further issues of the Consular reports, annual series.

The Manufactures Bureau has planned to increase the value of the annual volume of Commercial relations by making its issue much earlier than hitherto. This plan has been carried out so successfully with the volume for 1908 that it is about ready to go to the printer, and will follow up the 1907 edition much more closely than these annual issues usually follow each other. Both 1907 and 1908 will be in two volumes.

SENATE PRECEDENTS

This important work, compiled by Henry H. Gilfry, chief clerk of the Senate, and issued under the title Precedents, decisions on points of order, with phraseology, in the United States Senate from the First Congress to end of the Sixtieth Congress—1789–1909, has had some vicissitudes in its document edition. It was first listed as S. doc. 537, 60th Congress, 1st session, being the last Senate document listed for that session, and estimated to make 50 pages. On that estimate it was scheduled to be bound in vol. 33, Senate documents, with 19 other small documents. The 19 were printed and received months ago, but 537 never came, and vol. 33 was withheld from the binders to await its coming. Finally, and very recently, came along a substantial volume of 581 pages, bearing the title previously assigned to S. doc. 537. This started the Documents Office upon a more active inquiry for the missing no. 537, resulting in the information that there is no S. doc. 537, the compilation concerning the Senate precedents which was at first listed for publication under that number having been switched over to the 61st Congress, 1st session, and printed as S. doc. 129 of that session. The entry for this publication appears in the Monthly catalogue for August, 1909, page 78.

It appears that when, after unexpected delays, this large volume came to the proper place for listing as a Senate document, it was not remembered that it had already been assigned a number as a small pamphlet, and another number was given it.

As 537 would have been the last numbered Senate document for the 60th Congress, 1st session, and as under recent legislation the documents are numbered consecutively through a whole Congress instead of through each session, the first Senate document for the 60th Congress, 2d session, was numbered 538, and that and all the other documents of that session have been printed under a consecutive numbering beginning at that point. There is therefore a hiatus between the two sessions which it is not now possible to bridge. Librarians and others interested will therefore take notice that the series of Senate documents of the 60th Congress, 1st session, ends with no. 536, and that the series for the 2d session of the same Congress begins with no. 538, and that the 537 which should come between them does not exist.

COLONEL DODGE'S JOURNAL

In the 24th Congress, 1st session, Feb. 29, 1836, the Senate ordered the printing as a document, and also 500 additional copies, of Col. Henry Dodge's report of an expedition into the Indian country in 1835, in command of a squadron of dragoons about 120 in number, marching from Fort Leavenworth to the Rocky Mountains. The journal was printed as S. doc. 209, and is listed as bound in vol. 3, S. docs., 24th Cong., 1st sess., serial no. 281.

By some fatality doc. 209 has been omitted from several copies of vol. 3, and probably from most of them. It is not in the copy in the Public Documents Library in the Office of the Superintendent of Documents, nor in a duplicate copy in the same office. Two copies in the Library of Congress, two copies in the State Department Library, and one copy in the Justice Department Library are also without doc. 209. The only copy of vol. 3, S. docs., 24–1, containing this doc. that this office has certain information of is the one in the Boston Public Library. This copy of doc. 209 has 38 pages, the imprint of Gales & Seaton, and the following title: "Report of the Secretary of War, in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, transmitting a report of the expedition of the dragoons, under the command of Colonel Henry Dodge, to the Rocky Mountains, during the summer of 1835," etc.

The same report was printed in the same Congress as a House document (24–1, Ex. doc. 181, in vol. 4, serial 289), under the title Colonel Dodge's journal, 5000 additional copies having been ordered. It was printed by Blair & Rives, has one page less than S. doc. 209, and one map more, the map marked "B" being missing from the Boston Public Library's copy of S. doc. 209. The two reports are, however, essentially the same. Owing perhaps to the fact that the House printed 5000 additional copies, and the Senate but 500, doc. 181 is not reported as missing from any copies of serial 289.

If any library to which these lines come may chance to have a copy of S. doc. 209, 24–1, or of serial 281 containing doc. 209, which it can possibly part with, the Public Documents Library will be glad to accept the same and to reciprocate in any feasible and agreeable documentary way that may be proposed. The "sheep set" in the Public Documents Library is so nearly complete that it is worth the while not only of that library but of all libraries to assist it to entire completeness. It is to the interest of every library to have some one place where all the documents of the Congressional series may be found.

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, nearly every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 1st session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which about 700,000 are assorted, forming the sales stock, and covering nearly every important Department, Bureau, and series. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Of many of the most valuable works only one or two copies remain.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or slick coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Geological Survey Bulletin 392 is of present-day practicality. Under the title Commercial deductions from comparisons of gasoline and alcohol tests on internal-combustion engines, it tabulates and discusses 2000 tests made in Government plants at Norfolk, Va., and St. Louis, Mo.

Affairs in the Kongo, 61st Congress, 1st session, Senate doc. 147, is a compilation of correspondence in the State Department, transmitted by Secretary Knox, "in view of the general public interest in the subject."

The Navy and Marine Corps list and directory for November, 1909, can be obtained only from the Superintendent of Documents at 10c. single copy, and $1.00 for yearly subscription.

Another contribution to the great and growing mass of Alaskan literature is Professional paper 64 of the United States Geological Survey, which describes the physiography, glacial geology, and areal geology of the Yakutat Bay region.

Farmers' bulletin 380 is a compend of the latest information concerning the loco-weed disease, which is such a plague to the stock growers of the Western States.

A report on the feasibility and advisability of some policy to inaugurate a system of rifle practice throughout the public schools of the country is all of the title of a brief report signed by Generals Wingate and Critchfield, in which it is recommended that schoolboys of 13 and upward be taught marksmanship. This is one of the public questions which seem to have two sides and discussion may be expected to follow this publication. The report is made to the Rifle Practice Promotion Board.

Labor Bureau Bulletin 82, dated May, 1909, now issued, contains an important paper of 168 pages, by Frederick L. Hoffman, under the title Mortality from consumption in occupations exposed to municipal and general organic dust. This is the report often spoken of as "consumption in the dusty trades."

Labor Bureau Bulletin 83, the latest one issued, has a special article on the women's trade union movement in Great Britain.

The 7th edition of Immigration laws and regulations, of July 1, 1907, approved Oct. 7, 1909, has been issued. It contains a new rule, no. 48, and amendments to three other rules.

The Quartermaster-General of the Army has issued a small brochure on the Stars and stripes, giving the history of the national flag, the forms in which it is now made, the uses to which it is put, and how to make it.

The Commissioner of Labor has issued, and will also include in his annual report, a compilation of the Laws relating to compensation for industrial accidents in foreign countries, thus affording opportunity for comparison with our own recent national legislation on the same subject.

Uniform system of accounts for gas corporations and electric corporations in the District of Columbia, as prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and issued by the Statistics and Accounts Bureau, has also on its cover the words "First issue." The implication is clear that further information on the same subject is to be forthcoming.

Forestry in nature study is the title of a new special circular issued by the Experiment Stations Office, for the benefit of teachers of nature study in the younger grades of the public schools.

The annual report of the executive committee of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, 1909, contains the correspondence and proceedings concerning Col. Roosevelt's African expedition. It appears that the funds of the Smithsonian are not depleted in any way by the expedition. Col. Roosevelt pays his own expenses and those of his son, while the cost of the scientific part of the enterprise is borne by generous friends of the Institution. The report states that the contributions made to the National Museum by the expedition are worth thousands of dollars.

Chemistry Bureau Circular 16, revised, is a new list of the officials charged with the enforcement of the food laws in the United States and Canada.

There is a new index to Farmers' bulletins, indexing numbers 326–350.

The chinch bug has lately been making alarming demonstrations. Entomology Bureau Circular 113 tells about it.

Forest Service Bulletin 78. Wood preservation in the United States, tells how the life of wood may be prolonged and sketches the general principle of wood preservation and its status in the United States at the present time.

The annual report of the president of Howard University for 1909 shows that this institution for the education of colored people, located in Washington, has 1,091 students, coming from 34 States and Territories and from other islands and countries as follows: Africa, 4; British West Indies, 60; Canada, 1; Haiti, 1; India, 1; Panama, 1; Porto Rico, 4; Santo Domingo, 1; South America, 7. The University graduated 128 students in 1909.

The 2d edition of American ephemeris and nautical almanac for 1910 has been issued, and is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 a copy in cloth binding.

Farmers' bulletin 375 is another work of Mrs. Mary H. Abel, who has written for the Agriculture Department several useful publications on various branches of household economy. Her present subject is Care of food in the home. She presents in popular form not only the results of practical experience and of special tests made for the uses of this bulletin, but also the latest results of chemical and bacteriological research. The chances are that this will prove to be one of the most popular and useful of the whole extensive Farmers' bulletin series, now numbering almost 400 separate publications.

The National Monetary Commission has printed a list of the publications relating to the subject it has under consideration. Some of these are already in press, others to be printed later. In all fifty-two volumes are thus listed.

A third edition has been issued of The army horse in accident and disease. This manual was prepared for the use of students in the Army Training School for Farriers and Horseshoers, but it has proved to be very popular with civilian horse owners. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c. a copy.

A PATRIOTIC PUBLICATION

Mr. Sonneck, chief of the Division of Music in the Library of Congress, has prepared, and the Library of Congress has published, a volume relating to the four most popular American patriotic songs, Star-spangled banner, Hail Columbia, America, and Yankee Doodle, which will be sold by the Superintendent of Documents, cloth bound, at 85c. a copy.

It gives the various versions, of both text and music, which have attended the historic evolution of these songs, with critical examination of the literature and evidence relating to them, presenting also numerous facsimile productions of early texts.

It is valuable as a record, entertaining as literature, and inspiring in its appeal to patriotic sentiment.

BLUE BOOK OF 1909

The Official register of the public service of the United States, issued in every odd-numbered year and popularly known as the "blue book," has been issued for 1909. Volume 1, containing the names, pay, etc., of the members of all branches of the public service except the postal service, is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.25 a copy. Volume 2, containing the information concerning the postal service, will be sold at the same price.

MINE RESCUE WORK

The United States Geological Survey has issued a leaflet descriptive of the mine rescue work which it is carrying on at its mine-accidents station in Pittsburg. The work began in July, 1908, an appropriation of $150,000 then becoming available for this purpose. Mine-accident stations have also been established at the University of Illinois and at Knoxville, Tenn. Others will be established.

A part of this work is the testing of explosives, so that those least likely to ignite poisonous gases or coal dust may be used. Another is the training of rescue corps, who by wearing oxygen helmets and carrying portable electric lamps can enter mines filled with poisonous gases. Each rescue corps carries a resuscitating cabinet, which consists of cylinders charged with oxygen, a flexible breathing bag, a flexible tube, and a hood that fits over the mouth and nostrils of the miner who may have been asphyxiated by the gases evolved by a mine explosion and whose resuscitation the members of the rescue strive to effect.

In view of the fact that the percentage of miners killed is larger in this country than in any other, being from two to four times as great as in any European country, the importance of this effort of a Government bureau to put mine rescue-work on a scientific basis is evidently great.

CONFERENCE OF GOVERNORS

Proceedings of a conference of governors in the White House, Washington, D. C., May 13–15, 1908, listed in Monthly catalogue, April, 1909, p. 570, is a public document of nearly 500 pages, in cloth binding, sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 75c. a copy. The November number of the Journal of political economy, issued from the University of Chicago press, reviewed this document in the following words: "A complete verbatim report of the proceedings of the important conference called by President Roosevelt to consider the question of the conservation of our natural resources is here made available. Some of the speeches are of permanent value, and if one has the patience to search he may learn many important facts from their perusal. But the more essential and important results of the conference are to be found in the crystallizing of public opinion and the impetus to action consequent upon the gathering, rather than in the record of the speeches there delivered."

INDEX TO THE LAWS

Index analysis of the Federal statutes, together with a table of repeals and amendments, listed in Monthly catalogue, October, 1908, p. 162, is a public document of nearly 1400 quarto pages, in buckram binding, sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $2.50 a copy. The November number of the American political science review, issued by Johns Hopkins University, published this review of the Index analysis:

"It is a hopeful sign that the making of this index, instead of being treated, as is usually done, as mere clerical work, was committed to trained and expert hands. The working out of a well-ordered plan of headings and subheadings involves a systematic analysis of the whole body of statutory material. Such an index as this may therefore well be looked upon as a first step in the scientific treatment of legislation.

"It is impossible to form a judgment of the completeness or accuracy of an index except by long-continued tests, but a relatively brief period of use may give a fair idea of the general economy and convenience of its arrangement, and the impression produced by this volume is extremely favorable.

"The elaborate system of headings, subheadings, and cross-references, and its use, is explained by the authors in a table of directions which is interspersed through the volume at irregular but frequent intervals. The index of the popular names of statutes which is placed at the end of the volume will be found a special convenience.

"The authors are careful to warn the user against certain shortcomings which it was found impossible to provide against.

"Thus, if for any purpose it is desired to make a complete list of all powers and duties of an office, the index will not be a complete guide, for where the statute has not named the officer who is to execute its provisions, the index omits reference to any officer, though it may be clear within whose jurisdiction the administration or enforcement of the act must fall. In adopting this course the authors were controlled by the principle that they should carefully avoid anything in the nature of a construction of statutes. It might have been the privilege of private indexers to be less scrupulous.

"For the same reason the elaborate table of repeals and amendments at the end of the volume lays no claim to completeness; for implied repeals and amendments are entirely matter of construction, and it would require legislative authority to determine with certainty where they occur.

"It is very much to be hoped that the work will be continued. It is proposed that a second volume, when published, shall cover the statutes of temporary local and personal character. The student of legislative history would prefer an index of the general legislation of the period from 1845 to 1873, for which at present we have only the indices of the separate volumes of the statutes at large.

"The plan for any further index has now been worked out, and for this Messrs. Scott and Beaman have entitled themselves to the gratitude of all those who have occasion to consult Federal statutes."

JEDIDIAH MORSE'S REPORT ON INDIAN AFFAIRS

The Rev. Jedidiah Morse, D. D., was the father of Samuel Finley Breese Morse, founder of the American system of electro-magnetic telegraph. Among the numerous activities of the Rev. Jedidiah Morse was a vital interest in the subject of civilizing and Christianizing the Indians, and in 1820 he was commissioned to make investigations the results of which were embodied in a report bearing the title, Report to Secretary of War on Indian affairs, comprising narrative of tour performed in summer of 1820, under commission from President of United States for purpose of ascertaining, for use of Government, actual state of Indian tribes in our country. This report is said by Ben: Perley Poore, in his Descriptive catalogue of Government publications, p. 149, to have been "regarded at the time as the most complete and exhaustive report of the condition, numbers, names, territory, and general affairs of the Indians ever made." In a search to ascertain its status as a public document some interesting facts have been unearthed.

The question of civilizing the Indian by giving him an education which should make him self-supporting was taken up by the Government as early as July 12, 1775, when the Continental Congress appropriated $500 for the education of certain Indian youths at Dartmouth College (American archives, 4th series, v. 2, col. 1879). Further provisions for education were included in Indian treaties of Dec. 2, 1794, and Aug. 13, 1803 (Stat. L. v. 7, p. 48, 79). Interest in the question was renewed soon after the War of 1812 and recommendations were made by the House Committee on Indian Affairs in a report of Jan. 22, 1818 (American state papers, Indian affairs, v. 2, p. 151).

The first general appropriation for Indian education was made by act of Mar. 3, 1819 (Stat. L. v. 3, p. 516) which authorized the President "in every case where he shall judge improvement in the habits and condition of such Indians practicable * * * to employ capable persons of good moral character to instruct them in the mode of agriculture suited to their situation, and for teaching their children in reading, writing, and arithmetic, and performing such other duties as may be enjoined, according to such instructions and rules as the President may give and prescribe * * *." It was further provided by the same act that "an account of the expenditure of the money and proceedings in execution of the foregoing provisions shall be laid annually before Congress."

On Jan. 17, 1820, a report was submitted to the House by the Secretary of War (American state papers, Indian affairs, v. 2, p. 200, 201), including among other things a copy of a circular dated Sept. 3, 1819, which had been addressed to those who had directed their attention to the civilization of the Indians, the object being to obtain information and to disclose the views of the President. Correspondence with Dr. Morse followed, and under authority from the President, the Secretary of War in a letter dated Feb. 7, 1820 (H. doc. 34, 17th Cong. 1st sess., serial no. 65, v. 1; and American state papers, Indian affairs, v. 2, p. 273) directed him to visit the various tribes and ascertain their condition from a religious, moral, and political point of view, and to make report with recommendations to the War Department. This report was intended to be used by the Department in the future application of the fund for the civilization of the Indians. He was engaged in this work from the spring of 1820 until late in 1821.

On Jan. 22, 1822, in response to a House resolution of Dec. 31, 1821 (House journal, 17th Congress, 1st session, serial no. 62, p. 102), the Secretary of War submitted a report of expenditures for civilization of the Indians (H. doc. 34, 17th Cong. 1st sess., serial no. 65, v. 1; and American state papers, Indian affairs, v. 2, p. 271). This report shows that Dr. Morse received on Feb. 12, 1820, the sum of $500 toward the expense of his journey, and on Dec. 22, 1820, a further payment of $278.

It is interesting to note that on the day preceding the submittal of the above report, a resolution had been submitted (House journal, 17th Congress, 1st session, serial no. 62, p. 171) calling on the President for information concerning any agent who may have been employed by him to visit the Indian tribes, and for the report of such agent. This resolution was agreed to on Jan. 22, 1822, and at some time between this date and Feb. 8, 1822, Morse's report was submitted to the House as indicated by the last paragraph of a War Department report submitted Feb. 11, 1822 (H. doc. 59, 17th Cong. 1st sess., serial no. 66; and American state papers, Indian affairs, v. 2, p. 275).

About a month later, Mar. 5, 1822, a resolution was agreed to in the House (House journal, 17th Congress, 1st session, serial no. 62, p. 316) giving Rev. Jedidiah Morse leave to withdraw his report and the accompanying documents. Dr. Morse himself in the introduction to his report states that it was "at my request returned for the purpose of completing and publishing it under my own inspection." The book was printed in New Haven, 1822, the report proper covering 96 pages, and the appendix thereto, 400 additional pages; it is "illustrated by a map of the United States, ornamented by a correct portrait of a Pawnee Indian," the son of Old Knife.

The publication is not in the Congressional set, and so far as known the New Haven print is the only form in which it appeared. Although not issued by a Government printer, there is sufficient justification for considering this a public document in the broadest acceptation of that term.

COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

NOTE.—The monthly Notice to mariners, formerly issued by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, has been consolidated with and made a part of the Notice to mariners issued by the Light-House Board, thus making it a joint publication. The charts, coast pilots, and tide tables of the Coast and Geodetic Survey are sold at the office of the Survey in Washington, and also by one or more sales agents in each of the important American seaports.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, nearly every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

NORTHERN AND NORTHWESTERN LAKES SURVEY

NOTE.—Lake Survey charts may be obtained from U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., or from U. S. Engineer Office, Buffalo, N. Y. Payments must be made before charts are sent, and if made by mail must be by postal or express money order payable to the order of U. S. Lake Survey Office if ordered from Detroit, or to the order of U. S. Engineer Office if ordered from Buffalo. These charts may also be obtained, for cash only, at U. S. Canal Office at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. They will be sent by express, the express charges to be paid by the purchaser on receipt of the charts, or free by mail at the purchaser's risk. Purchasers should indicate, when ordering the charts, whether they wish them sent by express or mail. The latter will be used when no choice is indicated.

The bulletins and supplements of the Lake Survey may be obtained free upon application at U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., and at the engineer offices in Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Grand Rapids, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Oswego.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at owner's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

The first number of the Pilot chart for the Indian Ocean has been issued by the Hydrographic Office. Hereafter it will be issued quarterly.

A Summary of the mineral production of the United States for 1908 has been issued in advance of the issue of the complete volume of Mineral resources for that calendar year. The total value of mineral products for 1908 is $1,595,670,186, being a decrease of $475,937,778 from the valuation for 1907, when for the second time the totals exceeded $2,000,000,000. Though coal is still the leader, with iron a bad second, gold increased to $94,560,000, which is the record, but it is exceeded by both copper and clay.

Forest Service circular 171, The forests of the United States: their use, is a clear and vigorous presentation of the present status of the American forestry problem, from the pen of Mr. Overton W. Price, associate forester.

Forest Service circular 172 discusses Methods of increasing forest productivity, certainly a most practical topic.

Plant Industry Bureau has issued title page, contents table, and list of illustrations for binding its first 40 circulars in a volume.

Professor Irving Fisher's famous paper, The national vitality: its wastes and conservation, which hitherto has been a public document only by virtue of the fact that it was one of the numerous papers composing the report of the National Conservation Commission and was printed in volume 3 of that report, has now been issued in a separate pamphlet. It is not, however, available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents. The popular demand for this paper has been very active and widespread.

The Library of Congress has issued a Want list of miscellaneous publications. A slight inspection of it is convincing evidence of the very comprehensive aims of the Library. Its purpose evidently is to make its collection—especially of American prints—all-embracing. The list is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. a copy.

Internal Revenue regulations 31 is the one which relates to payment of the new excise tax on corporations.

The corporation tax law, which is section 38 of the new tariff law, has been separately issued in an 8-page pamphlet by the Joint Committee on Printing.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has added another series to the numerous series of its publications. It is called Circular letters and no. 2 relates to a Proposed uniform demurrage code.

A paper by Dr. Lavinder, The prophylaxis of pellagra, first published in Public health reports, v. 24, no. 44, Oct. 29, 1909, has now been republished in a separate pamphlet. Dr. Lavinder is considered a chief authority on the knowledge and treatment of this formidable disease.

The Indian Affairs Office has begun the issue of a series of bulletins. The first number, bearing date Dec. 31, 1909, is a pamphlet of only 6 pages, describing the Indian fairs which have of late been a most interesting feature of Indian development. The bulletins will not be issued at regular periods, but as the need for supplying information to the field force of the Office may dictate.

A handsomely printed pamphlet contains a compilation, by Mr. H. A. Vale, clerk to the Joint Committee on the Library, of the legislation creating the national Statuary Hall in the Capitol, and of the proceedings in Congress relating to the statues which have been placed in the hall by the States.

The acts of the first Philippine Legislature, forming one of the volumes of the Annual reports of the War Department for 1909, have just now been published. From Sept. 12, 1900, to Oct. 12, 1907, the internal legislation for the Philippines was all enacted by the Philippine Commission, 1,800 acts having been passed. Since Oct. 16, 1907, the laws of the islands have been made by the Philippine Legislature, a body composed of two houses, the upper house being the Philippine Commission and the lower house an Assembly elected by the Filipinos.

Another in the series of nutrition studies which have been received with much interest throughout the country has been issued by the Experiment Stations Office. It is Bulletin 221, entitled Dietary studies in rural regions in Vermont, Tennessee, and Georgia, a pamphlet of 142 pages and 8 photographic illustrations, sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 25c.

Hygienic Laboratory bulletin 52 is Report no. 3 on the origin and prevalence of typhoid fever in the District of Columbia. It contains 160 pages of text and numerous maps and diagrams. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 45c.

The Stars and stripes is a 5c. leaflet issued by the Quartermaster General of the Army, copies of which are sold by the Superintendent of Documents. It gives a brief history of the evolution of the national flag and describes this and other flags and their uses in the military service.

The Plant Industry Bureau has issued its 19th inventory of seeds and plants imported for the benefit of American agriculture. The total number of such importations to June 30, 1909, was 25,717. Both the 18th and 19th inventories are now current, being Plant Industry Bureau bulletins 162 and 168.

The Hydrographic Office, Navy Department, continues its interesting series of reprints of hydrographic information, no. 9, dated Jan. 1, 1910, and entitled The origin and mission of the Hydrographic Office, being of historical as well as technical value. Each number has at the end a list of preceding numbers and their date of issue.

"What is whisky?" may be one of the numerous vexed questions that "will never be settled till it is settled right," but this one has been so settled—at least for all official purposes—by the recent decision of the President, reversing earlier official decisions. This decision, of importance to certain large business interests, has been printed in a leaflet, sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. a copy.

ERRORS IN A DOCUMENT

Librarians are advised that in S. doc. 205, current session, sent to the libraries Dec. 27, a very small error, involving very large consequences, was made in printing. In the 3d page, 8th line from the top, the word "increased" should read "decreased." As will be readily seen, this change of two letters reverses the statement and makes the document self-contradictory.

A "star print" (which is Government Printing Office technology for a corrected edition) has been issued and would have been sent to the libraries but for the timely interposition of a third edition, printed for the purpose of giving credit to the Atlantic monthly, from which the document had been reprinted. This third (and final) edition has been sent to the depository libraries.

FOURTEEN-FOOT WATERWAY

House doc. 50, 61st Cong. 1st sess., has been in active demand even in the incomplete condition, minus maps and plates, in which a part of the edition was issued.

It is the report of a special board of engineers on a survey of the Mississippi River from St. Louis to its mouth in the interest of the 14-foot channel and includes also a consideration of the survey of a proposed waterway from Chicago to St. Louis.

This document has now been issued in its completed form, containing not only several folded maps and diagrams in the volume of text but also a very large atlas of 52 plates.

The complete report, with atlas, will be sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in sets only, at $4.25 in paper covers.

CHECKLIST ADVANCE SHEETS DISCONTINUED

As stated in the preface to the first Advance sheet of the 3d edition of the Checklist of United States public documents, the purpose in issuing the work in sheets, printed with wide margins and on only one side, was to give opportunity and invitation to librarians, publishing offices, and document experts to contribute criticisms, corrections, and suggestions in aid of the work.

A few libraries and a few Government publishing offices have responded with additions and corrections both interesting and valuable, and to them thanks are cordially given, but their number is far too small to warrant continuing the publication of the Checklist in the costly Advance sheet form.

Evidently the general feeling is that information concerning United States public documents should come from this office, not be supplied to it.

This office accepts the situation, and is proceeding, as rapidly as force and facilities permit, to issue a complete one-volume Checklist of United States public documents. The discontinuance of the Advance sheets, so far from implying any change of policy or cessation of the effort to supply the libraries of the country with needed helps in the use of the public documents, means that the issue of a complete and compact checklist will be greatly facilitated and hastened—will, in fact, become a matter of months, while on the Advance sheet plan it was a matter of years, and a somewhat indefinite number of years at that. The form chosen is an extensive and thorough revision of the so-called "Crandall checklist" of 1895. The purpose is to meet the general demand for a practical and convenient checklist of public documents at the earliest moment. The demand for such a publication has been persistent and increasing for a dozen years past, and this office now recognizes the fact that delays and explanations should no longer be offered in place of results.

The new Checklist will present a record as complete as long experience and expert knowledge can make it of the publications of the Government to the close of the calendar year 1909. It will include the only even approximately complete record yet made of the Early Congress Papers, the publications of the period of the first 14 Congresses, 1789–1817. This was made some years ago from actual inspection of the publications in the few libraries of the country which are fortunate enough to have large collections of this kind.

Of the Checklist advance sheets, A 1—LC 12 (Agriculture Department to Library of Congress) have been issued, Interstate Commerce Commission, Justice Department, and Judiciary only excepted. Duplicate copies of the printed sheets are in stock and will be supplied to applying libraries or individuals without charge.

PAINTER'S DEBATES

A unique set of publications are these. The recent completion of its set by the library of the Interstate Commerce Commission—probably the only complete set extant—supplies the material for a note which may interest librarians and collectors.

Mr. Uriah Hunt Painter was a civil engineer by profession, but at the time of compiling his set of documents was a Washington newspaper correspondent. Beginning with the 48th Congress, in 1884, he compiled the Congressional debates relating to interstate commerce. He did it by using the stereotype plates of the Congressional record. He did not use them intact as they stand in the double-column quarto pages of the Record, but split the Record pages, using one column only for the pages of his compilations and printing them on octavo size paper, leaving a wider margin than is customary in the public documents. The debates were printed in parts, sometimes with and sometimes without title-pages, and these were later collected in bound volumes. The first volume was made up of 8 parts ranging in size from 2 pages to 440 pages, all containing debates in the 48th Congress on interstate commerce and the proposed creation of an interstate commerce commission.

Volume 2 is a similar compilation for the 49th Congress, 1886-87, but made up of only 2 parts.

Volume 3 does a like service for the 50th, 52d, and 53d Congresses, 1888-95, the 51st Congress having been skipped because its members talked but little about interstate commerce.

Of these three large volumes, giving the text of interstate commerce debates for the dozen years when that subject was almost continually uppermost, it is believed that not more than 15 copies were bound, though of the several parts perhaps as many as 50 copies were printed.

Mr. Painter also compiled in somewhat similar fashion several other volumes—one, containing Pacific railroad debates in the 37th, 38th, and 41st Congresses, having been published at West Chester, Pa., and all the others, 7 in number, at the Government Printing Office. They relate to the terminals of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the District of Columbia, to ticket brokerage, etc., all being Congressional debates and all relating to railroad questions of one kind and another.

It is not considered that these compilations are public documents.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

Students of American history may be somewhat puzzled by the provisions of section 32 of the public building act approved May 30, 1908, expressed in the words: "That the sum of ten thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, authorized, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of War, to aid in the erection and completion of a memorial structure at Point Pleasant, West Virginia, to commemorate the battle of the Revolution fought at that point between the colonial troops and Indians October tenth, seventeen hundred and seventy-four."

As the American Revolution had no legal existence and no troops until after the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776, and as the battles of the Revolution were fought between the armies raised by authority of the Continental Congress on the one side and the troops of King George of England and their Indian allies on the other, it seems hardly accurate to class as a battle of the Revolution one which was fought between Virginian troops under the command of a royal governor and an army of Indian savages nearly two years before the inception of the revolutionary government.

As a matter of fact, instead of being known as a battle of the Revolution, Point Pleasant is recorded by historians as the chief battle of Lord Dunmore's war with the Indians. Lord Dunmore was the royal governor of Virginia, King George's representative in that colony, and the colonists who served under the King's representative in the battle of Point Pleasant were undoubtedly many of them the same who a few years later served under the Congress and against the King in the actual battles of the Revolution.

Lord Dunmore did not personally command at the battle of Point Pleasant. He led one wing of his army down the Ohio, where it accomplished nothing. It was the other wing, under Gen. Andrew Lewis, which beat the Indians at Point Pleasant. Though it cannot correctly be called a battle of the Revolution, it was an important battle, a notable victory for the white men, and had a marked effect on the results of the Revolution which began a couple of years later. In his The Winning of the West, Theodore Roosevelt says:

"It was the most closely contested of any battle ever fought with the northwestern Indians; and it was the only victory gained over a large body of them by a force but slightly superior in numbers. . . . Its results were most important. It kept the northwestern tribes quiet for the first two years of the Revolutionary struggle; and above all it rendered possible the settlement of Kentucky, and therefore the winning of the West. Had it not been for Lord Dunmore's War, it is more than likely that when the colonies achieved their freedom they would have found their western boundary fixed at the Alleghany Mountains."

Evidently it was a battle well worth commemorating, but it is quite possible to commemorate it without calling it a battle of the Revolution.

The report of the Engineer Department on the letting of the contract and construction of the monument adopts the phrase "battle of the Revolution," but avoids mention of the date "Oct. 10, 1774." The monument is to be of granite and work on it has already begun.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Mineral resources of the United States, for the calendar year 1908, Part 2, Nonmetallic products, is among the important publications of the month. The chief products concerning which statistical and other information is given are coal, cement, and clay. The value of coal mined exceeds that of any other mineral product, and even clay exceeds gold.

Among the most interesting of all the public documents are the catalogues of the ship's and crew's libraries supplied to vessels of the United States Navy. The issue for the month catalogues the libraries of the new "dreadnought", the North Dakota. The ship's library has many professional manuals and treatises, while the crew's library has a greater proportion of lighter literature, including the most famous sea stories and other standard fiction. Both libraries appear to be admirably selected. Many educational institutions are less plentifully and less fittingly supplied with books. Among the numerous things which Uncle Sam does for the comfort of his fighting men, few if any are more commendable or of more practical value than the supplying of these excellent libraries to ships.

Bulletin 416 of the Geological Survey gives an account of the really surprising increase in the number of producer-gas power plants in this country. This form of the production of energy, by which inferior grades of coal, lignite, and peat are made available, has almost entirely grown up within the present century. Gas engines, which were formerly of very limited power, are now built to produce as high as 5000 horse power, and have broken the monopoly of steam.

Farmers' bulletin 383 has the attractive title How to destroy English sparrows. This will appeal not only to farmers but to almost everybody else, except perhaps those spoken of in the bulletin who make a profit by selling them for reed-birds. The authors of Bulletin 383 do not think that the sparrow can be exterminated, but they think that by following the means proposed his numbers may be much diminished. An interesting summary of the merits and demerits of this undesirable immigrant from the British Isles is given.

Geological Survey Water-supply paper 236 is Part 1 of the report on an unusually extensive investigation. The general title is The quality of surface waters in the United States, and the title of Part 1 is Analyses of waters east of the 100th meridian. This part contains detailed results of analyses of surface waters. Part 2 will discuss these analyses in relation to stream flow, climate, forestation, geologic environment, pollution, and other factors. The purpose is to ascertain the industrial value of various water supplies as well as their potability. As water dissolves more or less of everything with which it comes in contact, the fitness of a water supply for specified uses depends on the locality from which it comes. It may be made hard by lime, it may be alkaline, it may contain organic matter. These factors are to be made known by this series of reports.

The annual report of the Smithsonian Institution for 1908 is now available. The papers of the General appendix are unusually complete and comprehensive and discuss subjects of high scientific importance and timeliness, including aviation, wireless telephony, phototelegraphy, development of chemistry during 40 years, our present knowledge of the earth, heredity, etc. The volume is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 a copy in paper covers and $1.25 in cloth.

Bulletin 423, Geological Survey, entitled A primer on explosives for coal miners, is intended to be a life-saver. A large percentage of mine explosions is attributed to the improper use of explosives. The primer will teach those who study it to use explosives properly and avoid unnecessary danger.

The 23d Annual report of the commissioner of labor, for 1908, gives a copious treatment, nearly 800 pages, on workmen's insurance and benefit funds in the United States.

Bulletin 41 of the Hygienic Laboratory of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service, entitled Milk and its relation to the public health, issued early in 1908, was so complete an exposition of a subject of much popular interest and importance that the demand for it was very widespread and the whole edition speedily went out of print. A later and even more exhaustive treatment of the same subject is given in Hygienic Laboratory Bulletin 56, very recently issued, and offered for sale by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 a copy.

Digest of comments on the Pharmacopœia of the United States of America, 8th decennial revision, and the National formulary, 3d edition, for the calendar year ending Dec. 31, 1906, is the copious title of Hygienic Laboratory Bulletin 58. It explains itself, and nothing more needs to be said to arouse an interest in the publication.

The 1909 Annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture has been issued in an abridged edition (100 pages) for general distribution. This edition is known as Report 91. The document discusses the high-price question at length.

No. 10 of the series called Forest products, issued in collaboration by the Census Bureau and the Forest Service, gives the statistics of the forest production of this country for the year 1908. The total value is estimated at $1,050,000,000, a reduction of nearly 18 per cent from the production of 1907. This great falling off is not attributed to the exhaustion of the forests but to the business depression following the panic of 1907.

With what care the Government guards the interests of navigation is shown by a little pamphlet entitled Coal notice for foreign ports, 1910. This is an annual issue. It tells navigators in what foreign ports they may find coal, what kind of coal, what they should pay for it, the names of the concerns supplying it, and so on. This annual coal notice, formerly issued as a large and clumsy table, is now a neat and handy pamphlet.

The Census Bureau issues Important points on the U. S. census. There are only 4 pages of it, but if all citizens should read it the work of taking the census would be facilitated and its accuracy increased. It tells the citizen why he or she should answer the census questions and how they should be answered.

Coöperative distribution of new Smyrna figs and caprifigs is a most interesting little brochure from the Plant Industry Bureau on fig culture in the United States.

Plant Industry Bureau Circular 44, title Minor articles of farm equipment, gives handy points on the purchase and care of farm tools.

Civil service retirement in Great Britain and New Zealand is the title of Senate doc. 290, 61st Cong. 2d sess. It is a timely contribution to the discussion of the retirement question in this country.

Sixty-first Cong. 2d sess., S. doc. 248, is a volume of correspondence, dispatches, reports, etc., almost innumerable, filling over 800 pages, and published without table of contents or index, so that finding anything in it is very difficult. It contains the so-called Glavis charges concerning the Cunningham coal claims in Alaska as transmitted to Congress by the President.

Geological Survey Bulletin 424 is an attempt to estimate the money value of the public coal lands of the United States.

The notable book of the month is American campaigns, by Major M. F. Steele, in 2 vols., one of text, the other of maps. The distribution of this important work is entirely in the hands of the War Department.

The National Gallery of Art (Bulletin 70, National Museum), by Richard Rathbun, is descriptive of paintings and other art objects which have been donated or bequeathed to the Government. It is supposed that when the new building of the National Museum shall have been completed these works may be put on exhibition and the gallery thus be made a reality. The book contains a number of photographic reproductions of the more valuable paintings. The Superintendent of Documents has a few copies for sale at $1.00 each.

The handy index to Farmers' bulletins has been extended to include no. 382.

A new edition of the Interstate Commerce Commission's Regulations for the transportation of explosives, under the act of Mar. 4, 1909, bears date Jan. 15, 1910.

Reform of the land laws, conservation of national resources, extracts from recommendations of the President, the Secretary of the Interior, and the commissioner of the General Land Office, etc., is the comprehensive title of a compilation presented by Senator Newlands of Nevada and printed as Senate document 283, 61st Cong. 2d sess. The President quoted is Mr. Roosevelt, the Secretaries of the Interior are Messrs. Hitchcock, Garfield, and Ballinger, the land commissioners are Messrs. Richards, Ballinger, and Dennett, and the "etc." also covers an interesting miscellany on conservation, including extracts from the reports of the Public Lands Commission, the Conference of Governors, and the National Conservation Commission, and addresses by Mr. James Rudolph Garfield and Mr. Gifford Pinchot. Altogether, a compilation very agreeable to the ardent friends of conservation.

The United States National Waterways Commission, of which Senator Burton of Ohio is chairman, has issued a preliminary report, which has been published as 61st Cong. 2d sess., S. doc. 301, and is accounted one of the most important documents of the session.

CHANGED PRICES

Beginning with January, 1910, the price for the Catalogue of copyright entries, complete, is $3.00 a year; for Parts 1 and 3, $1.00 each; for Parts 2 and 4, each 50c. Send orders and remittances to the Superintendent of Documents.

Beginning with January, 1910, the yearly subscription rate for the Monthly weather review is advanced to $4.00 a year. Beginning with July, 1909 (vol. 37, no. 7), the price of single numbers is advanced to 35c. The Review is not issued "up to date," but usually several months later. The latest number that has been sent to subscribers is that for August, 1909 (vol. 37, no. 8). The magazine recently has been materially enlarged.

MORE GOVERNMENT PERIODICALS

The Superintendent of Documents has begun supplying subscribers with the weekly Public health reports issued by the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service. The price is $2.00 a year and the numbers are mailed promptly each week.

Beginning with the first issue of advance sheets for vol. 18, Interstate Commerce Commission Reports, the Superintendent of Documents will mail the sheets to subscribers as fast as printed. This is for the convenience of persons interested who do not wish to wait until the completion of a large volume before learning the decisions of the Commission. All of the separate decisions, printed in advance sheets as soon as handed down, which go to make up vol. 18, will be mailed to subscribers for $1.00, postage free. This is a distinct proposition, not affecting the sale of the bound volumes of Interstate Commerce Commission Reports, which will be continued as heretofore.

A BELATED CORRECTION

Professor John Bassett Moore's Digest of international law was listed for publication as House document 551, 56th Congress, 2d session, 1900–1901, and being estimated to make 5 vols. was so published in the Document index for that session (H. docs. v. 128 132). However, it grew under the compiler's hand, and when finally issued, late in 1906, was in eight volumes. It therefore became necessary, in assigning volume numbers and serial numbers, to split the final numbers in both these series, so that vol. 132 is in 4 books, labeled vol. 132, part 1, 132, part 2, and so on, while serial number 4206 appears on 4 books, as 4206, vol. 1, 4206, vol. 2, and so on. It has been the custom when such discrepancies have occurred in the Document indexes because of unforeseen (and unforeseeable) changes in plans of publication, to call the attention of librarians, in the preface to the next Index, to the needed correction. In this case, however, the first index issued after the 5-vol. Digest had appeared in 8 vols. was that for the 59th Cong. 2d sess., and as 5 indexes had intervened between that and the Index for the 56th Cong. 2d sess., in which the work had been listed as 5 vols., the fact that correction was needed had passed out of mind and was overlooked.

Hence this belated correction.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

PATENT OFFICE

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes Specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes. The single copies are not enumerated in this catalogue but may be obtained for 5c. each at the Patent Office. Beginning with Jan. 1, 1910, the Superintendent of Documents will sell the monthly volumes at $5.00 per volume or $60 per year and back numbers, prior to 1907, may be had at $3.00 per volume or $36 per year.

A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Patent Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10 per volume and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free of charge upon application to the Patent Office. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawings. These coupons are good until used, but are only to be used for orders sent to the Patent Office. For schedule of office fees, address Chief Clerk, Patent Office.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittances should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution'. An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

NORTHERN AND NORTHWESTERN LAKES SURVEY

NOTE.—Lake Survey charts may be obtained from U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., or from U. S. Engineer Office, Buffalo, N. Y. Payments must be made before charts are sent, and if made by mail must be by postal or express money order payable to the order of U. S. Lake Survey Office if ordered from Detroit, or to the order of U. S. Engineer Office if ordered from Buffalo. These charts may also be obtained, for cash only, at U. S. Canal Office at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. They will be sent by express, the express charges to be paid by the purchaser on receipt of the charts, or free by mail at the purchaser's risk. Purchasers should indicate, when ordering the charts, whether they wish them sent by express or mail. The latter will be used when no choice is indicated.

The bulletins and supplements of the Lake Survey may be obtained free upon application at U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., and at the engineer offices in Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Grand Rapids, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Oswego.

* Document for sale by Superintendent of Documents.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk. Canadian postal notes will be accepted only when the name of the issuing office is plainly stamped on the face of the note. If postage stamps are pasted on, the note will be returned.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Note of explanation to the librarians of designated depository libraries

Several inquiries have been received from libraries concerning the new methods of issue of the public documents which formerly composed the familiar "sheep set."

The changes from the old methods to the new have been so radical that they must have been confusing to many librarians, and an explanation—as full and clear an explanation as can be made within reasonable bounds—is due them.

If this explanation disagrees in some points with former explanations, so much the worse for the former explanations. In this matter, as in legislation, the latest law governs. This is not only the latest explanation, but, it is sincerely hoped and believed, the last and final explanation of a matter that has raised many knotty questions for this Office as well as for the libraries with which it deals.

The changes which have virtually abolished the "sheep set" have been caused by the action of Congress in enacting Joint resolution 3, 60th Congress, 1st session, which was approved January 15, 1908, and is to be found in 35 Stat. L., part 1, page 565. This is the full text of the resolution:

[No. 3.] Joint Resolution Amending an Act relative to the public printing and binding, approved March first, nineteen hundred and seven.

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That publications ordered printed by Congress, or either House thereof, shall be in four series, namely: One series of reports made by the committees of the Senate, to be known as Senate reports; one series of reports made by the committees of the House of Representatives, to be known as House reports; one series of documents other than reports of committees, the orders for printing which originate in the Senate, to be known as Senate documents, and one series of documents other than committee reports, the orders for printing which originate in the House of Representatives, to be known as House documents. The publications in each series shall be consecutively numbered, the numbers in each series continuing in unbroken sequence throughout the entire term of a Congress, but the foregoing provisions shall not apply to the documents printed for the use of the Senate in executive session: Provided, That of the "usual number," the copies which are intended for distribution to State and Territorial libraries and other designated depositories of all annual or serial publications originating in or prepared by an Executive Department, bureau, office, commission, or board shall not be numbered in the document or report series of either House of Congress, but shall be designated by title and bound as hereinafter provided, and the departmental edition, if any, shall be printed concurrently with the "usual number:" And provided further, That hearings of committees may be printed as Congressional documents only when specifically ordered by Congress or either House thereof.

Sec. 2. That in the binding of Congressional documents and reports for distribution by the superintendent of documents to State and Territorial libraries and other designated depositories, every publication of sufficient size on any one subject shall hereafter be bound separately and receive the title suggested by the subject of the volume, and the others shall be distributed in unbound form as soon as printed. The Public Printer shall supply the superintendent of documents sufficient copies of those publications distributed in unbound form, to be bound and distributed to the State and Territorial libraries and other designated depositories for their permanent files. The library edition, as well as all other bound sets of Congressional numbered documents and reports, shall be arranged in volumes and bound in the manner directed by the Joint Committee on Printing.

Sec. 3. That section two of an Act to amend an Act providing for the public printing and binding, and so forth, approved March first, nineteen hundred and seven, is hereby repealed.

Approved, January 15, 1908.

The matter repealed by section 2 is not consequential for the purposes of this explanation. The proviso attached to section 1 is the vital matter so far as the libraries are interested. It will be seen that this provision definitely removes the annual reports, periodicals, and serially numbered publications of the Executive Departments, bureaus, and commissions from the numbered set of Congressional documents. This set has been known for many years to librarians as the "sheep set," from the fact of its being bound in full law sheep. As the major part of the "sheep set" has always consisted of the publications of the Executive Departments, transmogrified by the addition of Congressional document numbers, the removal of these virtually abolishes the "sheep set." It has always been the bugbear of librarians, from the fact that it has strung together by its set of continuous numbers the reports of all Departments, the periodicals, scientific papers, bulletins, and other incongruous publications, in one very large and very discordant collection, in which the publications of each Department and bureau were scattered promiscuously instead of being collected in one place as they should be in any orderly library. Though such a set is necessarily repugnant to the training and the ideas of all librarians, it has been so long forced upon them, compelling them to become conversant with it, that apparently some of them are now not only reconciled to it, but feel that they can hardly do without it.

This cannot possibly be the ultimate attitude of any considerable number of librarians, for in past years they have been unanimous in support of every movement looking to the elimination of the "sheep set" and the substitution of copies of the Department reports and bulletins in the same forms and at the same time as Department editions.

The ideal of the Public Documents Office has been always "one edition of one book" as the only plan of publication that would certainly give immediate and absolute identification and save the uncertainty, annoyance, and waste of time caused by issuing the same public document in several different forms. This ideal has not yet been fully achieved, but a long step has been made toward it by the passage of Joint resolution 3 above quoted.

That its benefits have not been more immediately and more fully apparent is due to several reasons. Yet the sending of many of the annual reports of 1909 at earlier dates than ever before is evidence that some good has been already accomplished.

Many of the annual reports and serials of 1907 and 1908, it is true, have not yet been sent to the depositories. They have been delayed by circumstances beyond the control of this Office. The Joint Congressional Committee on Printing, which in the absence of statutory provision is the paramount authority, decided to abandon the costly and shortlived sheepskin binding, and to adopt the best substitute that could be had at moderate cost. Just what was the best moderate-priced binding material being an undetermined question, the Committee asked the Bureau of Standards for a report on the subject. This scientific Bureau, which does not make reports at haphazard, entered upon a series of tests in which many months were consumed. As a result of the tests, the Bureau of Standards formulated a set of specifications for a buckram cloth which were so severe that at the first attempt no bids were secured. Finally, however, the Government Printing Office and the manufacturers got together, and No. 666 buckram was secured. The tests indicate that this is the best moderate-priced binding material yet produced, and in appearance also it easily outclasses the sheepskin. The time taken to secure this new buckram extended over many months, and while in the meantime the binders were not doing anything for the libraries, the printers were doing a good deal, and unbound documents were piling up rapidly. After they have piled up it is not easy to catch up with them and also keep up with current work. The libraries do not need to be told this, for they have had practical experience of the effects of the delay. The Superintendent of Documents is glad now to be able to assure all interested librarians that the worst of the delay is over and that the bindery is now pushing out the scheduled volumes very rapidly. Positive assurances have been given that all the documents and reports of both sessions of the 60th Congress and the documents of the 1st session of the 61st Congress shall be completed in time to have them in the hands of the librarians by July 1, 1910. This will surely be very satisfactory to all concerned.

Evidently the continuous serial numbers which in the past have been assigned to the volumes of numbered Congressional documents and reports making up the "sheep set" cannot be put upon books which have been taken out of the "sheep set" and have no Congressional document numbers. The very object of discontinuing the placing of Congressional document numbers on the annual reports, periodicals, and numbered sets issued by the Executive Departments is to release these important documents from the bondage of the "sheep set" and enable librarians to classify them properly under their subjects.

With these documents taken out of the set of serial numbers, and only the strictly Congressional publications remaining to be numbered, a set of serial numbers, if continued, would show more gaps than numbers and be a puzzle rather than an assistance to librarians.

This statement implies, of course, that the reports and periodicals formerly included in the "sheep set" would still be constructively included, and serial numbers be allotted to them, though the volumes are not there to be numbered.

Why not omit the annual reports and periodicals from the serial numbering and number only the volumes of strictly Congressional documents, making the numbers continuous with the former set of serial numbers? is a question that will naturally occur to librarians at this point. The chief reason is that the House and Senate libraries insist upon having the old "sheep set," in all its features, still issued for their use. The Library of Congress, for its own purposes, and for the Smithsonian exchanges with foreign countries, puts forward the same requirements, the only exception being that the Library of Congress and the House Library accept buckram instead of sheepskin as binding material. The House and Senate libraries do not wish the serial numbers to be stamped on their copies.

The terms of Joint resolution 3 do not enable the Superintendent of Documents to resist these requirements, though they make it necessary for him to continue the compilation and publication of schedules (including serial numbers) in the same form as before. Thus the "sheep set" is virtually continued in the work of this Office, though it is no longer forced upon the depository libraries. The information contained in the schedules and serial numbers is, however, thus made available for the use of those depositories, if any, which may wish to continue arranging their documents on the "sheep set" plan. There can hardly be many such depositories, however, for the advantage of receiving the Department documents in the Department editions instead of in the Congressional editions is so apparent that it must sooner or later be universally accepted. It is not doubted, in fact, that even those official libraries which now insist on having the old "sheep set" intact will in the fullness of time see its disadvantages and adopt the Department editions instead.

In making the transition from the old "sheep set" to the new method of issuing the annuals and serials of the Departments, bureaus, commissions, and boards by this Office there have been some changes of plan, some varying interpretations of the law, and, no doubt, some variations in supplying titles to the binders. Precedents are, however, being established, and will be uniformly followed hereafter.

The matter was by no means so simple as it might appear. Almost every document has had little problems of its own. At first Joint resolution 3 was interpreted somewhat too literally, and it was not till after quite a bit of consideration the conclusion was reached that annual reports which have had no Departmental or bureau editions, but have been always printed as documents only, should still be left as documents instead of being printed without document numbers as the letter of the law would seem to require. As the document prints will still be issued by Congress, to make a print for the libraries without document number would be to make an entirely new edition not before known. To do this would be contradictory to the spirit of the new legislation and to the whole policy of the Public Documents Office, which has ever sought to reduce the number of differing editions of the same document. The annuals which have been printed as Congressional documents only are not numerous or especially important, and to let them remain documents will not perceptibly affect the purpose of the law to give the libraries annual reports, periodicals, and serials in their own proper forms, not obscured and hidden as Congressional documents.

It was not the plan of the Public Documents Office to bind the library copies of the annual reports and serials in a distinctive buckram. The use of this binding goes too far toward making a new edition. The plan of this Office has been to send to the libraries the publications of the various Departments and bureaus exactly as the Departments and bureaus issue them. This plan would be most economical, most prompt, and least confusing. The chronic complaint of the difficulty in using and understanding public documents arises, more than anything else, from the multiplicity of forms, numbers, and titles in which and under which the same document is issued. To reduce these duplications to their lowest possible terms is the constant aim and effort of this Office.

To make present conditions and purposes as to the late unlamented "sheep set" more clear, concrete instances will serve better than abstract exposition. If librarians will take down their copies of the Schedule of volumes of the reports and documents of the 60th Congress, 1st session, and check them by the statements in this paragraph, they will be no longer at a loss to understand the effect of Joint resolution 3, as interpreted by the Documents Office.

The volumes of Senate and House reports of the 60th Congress, 1st session, have been bound in correct form and the volumes of public reports have been sent to the libraries. No change is contemplated for these series.

Senate documents vols. 6, 11, 17, 18, 25, and 26, printed in the schedule in light-face figures, should have been printed in black-face figures, and would be so printed if the schedule were now being made up. Black-face figures mean that the volumes shall have title-pages and back titles bearing Congressional document numbers. Vol. 6 is made up of annual reports which have had no nondocument edition, or of which such editions were small and comparatively unimportant. These have been sent to the libraries unbound and without the Congressional document numbers. They will be reprinted and bound with document numbers and sent to the libraries in this permanent form. Vol. 11, made up of special unnumbered reports to the Manufactures Bureau, is not held to be properly included under the term "annuals and serials." Vol. 17, Inland Waterways Commission report, scheduled as an annual report, has probably been taken out of that class by action of Congress which makes the status of the Commission doubtful. Vol. 18, Schoolhouse Commission, D. C., report, is not an annual or serial, the Commission not being permanent and having discharged its function by the publication of this one report. Vol. 25 is of the same status as Vol. 6, already explained. Vol. 26, National Society of Daughters of American Revolution, 10th report, has no Departmental or nondocument edition.

Of the House documents scheduled for the 60th Congress, 1st session, vols. 21, 53, 79, 95, 101, 103, and 104, printed in light-face figures, should be considered by librarians to belong in the black-face figure class, and in these cases, and those of the similar volumes of Senate documents, it would be well to indicate the changes in the copies of the schedules which have been received by the libraries, both the separate print and the print in the back of the Document index for the 60th Congress, 1st session. Vol. 21, National Soldiers' Home report for 1907, has only a partial nondocument edition, and that differing considerably from the numbered document edition. Vol. 53, Summary and Report of commissioner of corporations on cotton exchanges, pts. 1–3, is not considered to be either an annual or a serial. Vol. 79, Estimates of appropriations and other documents from the Treasury Department, has no unnumbered nondocument edition as a volume, nor have three of the four documents of which it is composed such editions. Vol. 95, House manual, is of late years issued only in a numbered document print. Vol. 101, Estimates for salaries, etc., is neither an annual nor a serial. Vols. 103 and 104 are parallel with vol. 6, Senate documents, already explained. These schedule corrections may be easily made by any librarian who wishes to make them.

The matter is not quite so easy in the case of volumes which have been bound in accordance with the first form of scheduling and have been already sent to the depository libraries. These are four in number, vols. 17, Senate documents, and 21, 25, and 26, House documents. The worst one of these is vol. 17, Senate documents, Inland Waterways Commission report, which has an error not chargeable to the Documents Office, namely, that of putting a "plain title" or nondocument cover on a book carrying title-pages having Congressional document numbers. The other three, namely, House documents vols. 21, 25, and 26, have no Congressional document numbers either on title-pages or back titles, and are so far consistent, though they should be numbered as Congressional documents.

It should not be difficult for librarians, either by notes on their shelf-list cards or by pasted labels on their books, or both, to adapt these four books to the changes in the schedule here suggested. The books noted as incorrectly scheduled, which have not yet been bound, will be bound in agreement with the changed forms noted in this explanation.

H. doc. 615, 61st Cong. 2d sess., is Secretary Dickinson's report on conditions in Porto Rico, resulting from his recent visit to that island. A voluminous bill, amending existing laws relating to Porto Rico, accompanies the report.

Bulletin 59 of the Hygienic Laboratory has the title The oxidases and other oxygen-catalysts concerned in biological oxidations.

The Animal Industry Bureau has issued the first number of a Directory of its personnel and stations and has discontinued the separate publication of the Directory of the meat inspection service, which is now included in the Bureau Directory.

Water-supply paper 238 of the Geological Survey has an important subject, The public utility of water powers and their governmental regulation. The joint authors are René Tavernier, chief engineer of the department of public works of France, and Marshall O. Leighton, chief hydrographer of the Geological Survey. It shows the practice of foreign countries, the Federal and State laws of this country, and so forth.

A still further development of education in agriculture is the formation of boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, described in Farmers' bulletin 385. This bulletin and Experiment Stations Office Circular 60, The teaching of agriculture in the rural common schools, are a pair of textbooks that should commend themselves to those who can profit by them. "As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Experiment Stations Office Bulletin 222, Irrigation in Texas, shows what has been done, what may be done, what should be done, and is illustrated by a map.

A document that will probably be read with interest alike by those who agree with it and those who do not has been printed by the House Committee on Agriculture. It is entitled The influence of forests on climate and on floods. It controverts almost every position taken by the advocates of forest conservation. It not only traverses the arguments of the conservationists, but denies even the postulates on which these arguments are based, and seeks to overturn doctrines long almost universally accepted as axiomatic. The author is Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, a fact which gives the publication a weight it could hardly have if published anonymously.

Plant Industry Bureau Bulletin 169 has for subject Variegated alfalfa—meaning various varieties of this highly esteemed forage plant which have been produced by crossbreeding. Some of these hybrids are more resistant to the effects of cold climates and otherwise more valuable than the parent stocks. It is a large bulletin and describes a great number of breeding experiments.

Packing for export, compiled and illustrated by the Manufactures Bureau and published as S. doc. 325, 61st Cong. 2d sess., will be very useful to those who have the wisdom to read it and profit by it. The examples it gives of losses by poor packing done in this country, contrasted with the excellent packing done by foreign exporters—especially Germans—are object lessons of the most convincing kind. The bureau edition of this publication appeared in the Monthly catalogue for December, 1909.

H. rp. 432, 61st Cong. 2d sess., catalogued this month under the heading Judiciary Committee, House, discusses in majority and minority reports the interesting questions raised by the contest started in the courts by a disappointed bidder on a paper contract let by the Joint Committee on Printing. Is the function of this Congressional committee executive or legislative? are the members bound to obey the summons of the courts in such a case? are the prominent points.

Librarians will be interested in a new publication of the Catalog Division of the Library of Congress relating to the classification of books in that great library. It gives an outline scheme of classes, but is offered only as preliminary, and is dated Dec. 1909.

The long expected bulletin on the manufacture of denatured alcohol has now been issued as no. 130 of the Chemistry Bureau. Price 20c.

Parts 4 and 5 of the Report of the commissioner of corporations on cotton exchanges have been issued in 1 vol., completing the work. The new volume is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c. Parts 1–3 were published in 1908.

The United States Geological Survey is now making an octavo edition (called the field edition) of its extensive series of folios of the Geologic atlas of the United States. The text is an octavo page and the maps are folded in a pocket. For some uses the smaller edition will be preferred to the "library edition."

It appears by a list transmitted by the State Department to the Foreign Relations Committee that about 220 diplomas, decorations, medals, and other gifts which foreign governments have tried to bestow upon various United States officials now remain in the hands of the chief clerk of the State Department, awaiting the permission of Congress for their acceptance by those to whom they have been tendered. This is because of a provision of the Constitution that officials may not receive gifts from foreign powers without the consent of Congress. About a hundred years ago an amendment making this prohibition apply to all citizens escaped ratification by a very small margin.

A memorandum concerning the elements of a lottery, by Assistant Attorney-General Goodwin, has been published by the Post-Office Department. This is a question to which postal officials must give much attention, for they are not permitted to carry postal matter for lotteries.

There is a new military publication, listed as Instruction circular 1, Division of Militia Affairs, and entitled Manual for privates of infantry of the organized militia of the United States. A very large circulation is predicted for this manual. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 20c.

There is a newly revised edition, dated 1909, of the account of the battle of Shiloh and the organizations engaged therein, issued by the Shiloh National Military Park Commission. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 45c. The first edition was issued in 1902.

The first statistical publication of the 13th census is Bulletin 98 of the permanent Census Bureau. It gives descriptions of the supervisors' districts into which the United States has been divided for the purpose of making this year's census. They number 330, exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii, where the census will be taken by special agents.

Promising root crops for the South is the title of Plant Industry Bureau Bulletin 164. The roots recommended are yautias, taros, and dasheens, which are said to have, when growing, the general appearance of the decorative plant known as "elephants' ears." It will take a little time to get used to these names.

Chemistry Bureau Bulletin 107, methods of analysis, etc., has been again reprinted. Though it has been on the market for several years the demand for it continues unabated. In paper covers, 20c.

The monthly Bulletin of the American Republics Bureau has come to be about the most handsomely printed and profusely illustrated of American periodicals.

A very recent report (S. doc. 376, 61st Cong., 2d sess.) shows that the receipts of the Reclamation Service have been $58,582,140 and its expenditures $50,688,083, while enough work has already been allotted to bring the total outlay up to $60,407,000. This is going into irrigation on a grand scale. Nobody, however, seems to think it too grand, for the benefits are too obvious to be questioned. Document 376 gives the cost in detail of each separate irrigation project.

The Navy Department has published a statistical account of the voyage of the fleet of battleships around the world in 1908, showing the arrival and departure of each ship at and from each port, the amount of coal consumed, and other official records which many will no doubt wish to preserve.

Vol. 1, Hearings in the controversy, Pinchot v. Ballinger, filling nearly 800 pages, and a part of vol. 2 have been printed and are entered in their appropriate place in this number of the Monthly catalogue. These are but the beginnings of a record that bids fair to fill many volumes.

Mineral resources, 1908, Part 1, Metallic products, in cloth, is now available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 80c.

Professor Irving Fisher's notable report entitled The national vitality, its wastes and conservation, has now been separately published as a public document and can be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents at 15c. a copy.

NEW WEATHER PUBLICATIONS

The Weather Bureau has announced a new series of publications, under the title Climatological service of the Weather Bureau, which the Superintendent of Documents is prepared to supply to subscribers. The country has been divided into 12 large weather districts, and for each of these a summary will be published in the Monthly weather review. These will be prepared by the district editors, one who is familiar with the country having been appointed for each district. These 12 monthly weather summaries will also be printed separately, and in this form will be mailed to buyers or subscribers by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. a copy or 50c. a year.

In the January Monthly catalogue mention was made of the change of price of the Monthly weather review, which has lately been much enlarged.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS AND THE REVIEWERS

In these days even literary reviewers find interesting material in United States public documents. The London (Eng.) Bookseller, Jan. 21, 1910, has an extended review of Mr. Sonneck's Report on the Star-spangled banner, Hail Columbia, America, and Yankee Doodle, from which the following excerpts are taken:

A volume dealing with such a subject necessarily has a primary interest for American readers, but the songs and melodies are, of course, so well known on this side the Atlantic that many English readers and music lovers will like to know something of the information that is here set forth. As regards "The Star-Spangled Banner," the actual circumstances under which it was written have never been controverted, as they practically rest upon information supplied by Mr. Francis Scott Key himself to Chief Justice Taney, who passed them on to Mr. Henry U. D. Jones, when in 1856 he published an edition of Mr. Scott Key's Poems. How it came about, however, that the verses were wedded to the convivial music of the song "Anacreon in Heaven" is not quite so easily settled, but the particulars here collected of that once well-known song will be very interesting to all concerned in the history of English songs. "Hail, Columbia," was, it seems, written in 1798, at the time of the French wars, and it is worth noting that both the words and the music were actually American. The author was one Joseph Hopkinson, who finds his chief title to immortality in its authorship. It was written for the benefit of a young singer, Gilbert Fox, and was adapted at his request to the music of "The President's March." It was immediately successful, and quickly became a national song. The author of the music, "The President's March," was for some time uncertain, but the present report makes it more than probable that the tradition which declares it was composed by one Philip Phile before 1793 is correct. The last song of the four, the popular "Yankee Doodle," provides the most interesting investigation of all. At the same time it leaves it still undiscovered exactly what was the origin of the song, and who was the author of the melody. The meaning of the word "Yankee" is exhaustively discussed, and many competing derivations examined, without any very satisfactory result. After rejecting various suggestions and theories, the report views with some favour the idea that the tune was known as a Lancashire hornpipe as early as 1658. The verses sung to the tune are many and various, and were very often interpolated, the dates being consequently quite uncertain, except that the verses "Father and I went down to camp" may be fixed with some accuracy as between the years 1810 and 1813. The author of the music still remains unknown, unless as the report remarks, it be deemed a positive result to have eliminated definitely almost every theory thus far advanced, and thus to have paved the way for an eventual solution of the puzzle. A list of works on the subject and several facsimile plates are added.

Mr. Sonneck's entertaining work, published by the Library of Congress, is sold, in cloth, by the Superintendent of Documents, at 85c.

The American historical review for January, 1910, reviews A century of population growth, from the first census of the United States to the twelfth, 1790–1900, recently issued by the Census Bureau. From this review we reproduce the following:

Six years ago the records relating to the earlier censuses of the United States were transferred by the Department of the Interior to the custody of the Director of the Census. This excellent and handsome volume sums up the statistical results which can still be derived by a modern expert from the old materials. One cannot in brief space summarize or review a quarto volume of varied statistics, but the historical student interested in the United States of about 1790 will find in it a great deal to interest and instruct him. From the schedules of the First Census and other contemporary materials a "Statistical Abstract" of the United States in 1790 has been obtained, covering area, population white and negro, families, names, nationality, migration, transportation, slavery, occupations, etc., with many ingenious tables and diagrams, and a number of excellent reproductions of maps of the period in question. Besides discussions and tabulations relating to 1790, the volume contains many which review subsequent development in various lines of comparison, while forty pages give the results of those provincial and state censuses which were taken before 1790, material everyone will be glad to have in compact and combined form.

This historically valuable compilation is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in cloth, at $1.10.

The Detroit news, Feb. 6, 1910, publishes a brief review of Fisheries Bureau document 648, which is a separate from Fisheries Bureau Bulletin, v. 28. Though the bulletin as a whole will be for the year 1908, this separate was issued in 1910. Its title is International regulations of the fisheries on the high seas. It was read before the Fourth International Fishery Congress, held in Washington Sept. 1908, by the author, Charles Hugh Stevenson, and received the award of $200 offered by the Smithsonian Institution for the best treatise on this subject. We quote from the review in the News:

The term "high seas" implies all the waters of the ocean, and all connecting arms and bays, exterior to low-water mark; but in international law and in the sense employed here, the term is not so broad, and it signifies only so much of the ocean as is outside the territorial jurisdiction of maritime states, and is what might be called the extraterritorial seas. The statistics given in the article show that the author knows whereof he speaks. It covers the fishery subject thoroughly.

Copies of this prize-essay document can be bought from the Superintendent of Documents at 15c. each, in paper covers.

The Detroit news also comments as follows on Ethnology Bureau Bulletin 38, Unwritten literature of Hawaii: the sacred songs of the hula; by Nathaniel B. Emerson:

For a complete collection of Hawaiian songs and poetic pieces that have done service from time immemorial as the stock supply of the Hula, this book, which represents years of effort, will meet with the approval of its readers. The sacred songs have been translated into English, with notes and an account of the Hula. The book contains many photographic reproductions of flowers and people.

This bulletin is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 25c. in paper, 50c. in cloth.

The American historical review for January, 1910, reviews a recent publication of the Library of Congress in the following eulogistic terms:

Mr. Philip Lee Phillips, chief of the division of maps and charts in the Library of Congress, has compiled a remarkable annotated List of Geographical Atlases in the Library of Congress. In the first volume, of over 1200 pages, the atlases are described and analyzed with unusual wealth of bibliographical detail. Atlases of special subjects, colonial, commercial, ecclesiastical, historical, etc., are included. Maps relating to America, plans of cities throughout the world, and material of specific interest not usually found in atlases, are brought to the special attention of the student. In the second volume an author-list of abridged titles, with dates of birth and death, precedes the index, which contains over 40,000 references. Under "Publishers" is "an alphabetical list of all the atlas publishers referred to in the body of the work." In the case of the atlases of Ptolemy, Ortelius, Mercator, and some others, not only the editions in the Library of Congress but all other known editions are noted. Of much value to the historian are the full analyses of such collections of reproductions of old maps as the works of Santarem, Jomard, Fischer, and others, and of the atlases accompanying boundary disputes.

This important work, in 2 vols., is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in cloth, at $2.35 for the set.

The February number of the Yale review, published at Yale University, has notes on three recent United States public documents, from which we quote:

Transportation by Water in the United States. Report of the Commissioner of Corporations. Washington: Government Printing Office, 1909. Two parts. An exhaustive investigation of water transportation in the United States is being made under the direction of the Federal Commissioner of Corporations, and already two volumes of the study have been published. The first deals with such broad questions as the physical character of the coastwise and inland waterways; the types of traffic-carriers and their equipment, and the financial and legal questions involved in their operation. The second volume contains a discussion of water-borne traffic with reference to its general nature, and to its past and present importance upon the various waterways of the country. Other sections of the study yet to be published will deal with such further problems as terminals, freight rates, and the relations of the railways to the waterways.

Tlingit Myths and Texts. Recorded by John R. Swanton. Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin 39. Washington: Government Printing Office, 1909. We have here another of the regular series of records made under governmental auspices, covering the actual myths as rendered into English, and also as reproduced phonetically. In the absence of phonographic records, the method used represents probably the best, though a laborious way of preserving the Indian dialects for the study of future specialists in languages. This, and the collecting of folklore before it is too late, are enterprises that cannot be sufficiently praised.

Taxation of Corporations. Part I.—New England. Bureau of Corporations. Washington: Government Printing Office, 1909. This report is a digest and discussion of the systems of taxing, manufacturing, mercantile, transportation, and transmission corporations and the securities issued by them, in the six New England States. It consists of a general introductory discussion, followed by separate chapters on each of the States. The account for each State contains (1) a general view of the tax system of the State, (2) a detailed digest of the constitution and statutes, (3) an account of the financial returns of taxes for a few recent years, and (4) comments by taxing officials and other authorities on the working of the state tax system. The report is a decidedly valuable contribution. It shows evidence of careful work in investigating statutes and financial statistics, and also a sound knowledge and understanding of the principles of public finance. It should prove of practical value to everyone interested in the subject. The Bureau of Corporations intends to print similar reports on the other States in future volumes, an undertaking which is deserving of hearty support.

All three of the documents so favorably commented on by the Yale review are sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Transportation by water, Part 1, in paper, 65c.; Part 2, in paper, 50c.; Tlingit myths, in paper, 35c., in cloth, 50c.; Taxation of corporations, Part 1, paper, 20c.

The February number of the American political science review, published at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, carries a sharp criticism of Professor Thorpe's 7-volume compilation of Federal and State constitutions, colonial charters, and other organic laws of the States, Territories, and colonies now or heretofore forming the United States of America. The reviewer charges various sins both of commission and of omission, but says that Professor Thorpe has "followed Poore's plan of giving a constitution and then following it with amendments in chronological order," and that "this arrangement is the most satisfactory, especially when notes are given to each text indicating where amendments have been made," and that "the collection must be used by students, because the more recent State constitutions are not easily available elsewhere," closing with the remark that "it is perhaps sufficient to suggest that the work is untrustworthy and should be used with care."

It goes without saying that all reference books "should be used with care." In this case the lapses pointed out by the reviewer seem to fall far short of justifying a sweeping condemnation. The reviewer himself goes a long step toward offsetting them by saying that "in addition to printing State constitutions and amendments subsequent to Poore's collection, Dr. Thorpe has also introduced much new matter relating to early colonial history, and has published the Albany plan of union (1754) together with some other documents of importance."

It is of course to be regretted that even minor faults are found in the Thorpe collection, but the student who undertakes to wait for the publication of such a work devoid of errors will find it a tiresome wait. Whatever pinholes reviewers may detect in the new set of charters and constitutions, the fact is incontestable that it is the latest and thus far the best compilation of its kind. This compilation is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in a good cloth binding, at $5.25 for the set of 7 volumes.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE.—The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas (issued in Library and Field editions) and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios (either Library or Field editions), whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see next page.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

PATENT OFFICE

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes Specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes. The single copies are not enumerated in this catalogue but may be obtained for 5c. each at the Patent Office. Beginning with Jan. 1, 1910, the Superintendent of Documents will sell the monthly volumes at $5.00 per volume or $60 per year and back numbers, prior to 1907, may be had at $3.00 per volume or $36 per year.

A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Patent Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10 per volume and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free of charge upon application to the Patent Office. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawings. SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number will be an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Commercial relations, 1908, vol. 1, is now published. It is a compilation by the Manufactures Bureau of annual reports by United States consuls and consuls general upon the commercial conditions and prospects in their several consular districts in Europe. The reports are for calendar years, and the Bureau is endeavoring to bring their publication nearer up to date than heretofore, some gain in this respect having been made with the 1908 issue. Vol. 1, in cloth, is sold at 75c.

American campaigns, by Major M. F. Steele, in 2 volumes, is War Department document 324. Although section 87 of the Printing law of January 12, 1895, provides that all printing, etc., for Congress and for the Executive and Judicial Departments shall be done at the Government Printing Office, this public document was printed by a private firm in this city, and distributed by the General Staff of the Army. This official distribution apparently has exhausted the edition, and not even the designated depository libraries have been provided for. There is also considerable public demand for this publication, but for the reason stated the Superintendent of Documents is unable to comply therewith. The catalogue entry for this publication appears in the Monthly catalogue for January, 1910, page 366, under Military Information Division.

The 23d annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, dated Dec. 21, 1909, has been published as House document 148, of the 61st Congress, 2d session. No one who is interested in the great question of transportation can let this report pass unread.

Circular 32, Office of the Secretary of Agriculture, is a public document not at all of the humdrum sort, but full of fire and spirit. Its title is Cotton, the greatest of cash crops, and it was first delivered as an address at Greenville, Miss., Jan. 17, 1910, by Dr. Seaman A. Knapp of the Bureau of Plant Industry. His general subject was the present outlook for cotton production in boll-weevil territory, and he urged the planters not to think of giving up cotton growing because of the boll-weevil. "Don't get scared by the boll-weevil; it can be whipped," he says, and concludes with this fine outburst, of a kind not often seen in a public document:

"Organize for the fight. Every man should assist—the banker with his money and the laborer with his hoe—till victory is won. You will live to see your land worth three times what it is to-day and you can not afford to sacrifice it. Hold your land and there is no reason why you should not succeed. This is the greatest country on earth for the production of the world's greatest crop. You can make a crop here just so long as you work your land properly. Let there be no more pessimism. Mississippians do not know how to surrender, much less to be captured by boll-weevils. Unfurl a banner on every farmhouse and emblazon on it, 'We do not surrender to an invading army! We fight!'"

The revision of the United States statutes advances, though but slowly. The Commission to Revise the Laws, after a service beginning June 4, 1897, sent its final report to Congress in December, 1906. The report has since been in the hands of a Joint Committee. The Crimes title, the first part of the new revision to become law, was enacted March 4, 1909, and became effective January 1, 1910. The second part, the Judiciary title, was reported to Congress March 14, 1910 (61st Congress, 2d session, S. rp. 388) and has since been under consideration. Evidently the old edition of the Revised statutes (1878) must do duty for a while yet.

Bulletin 174, Plant Industry Bureau, offers a preventive for the brown rot and scab diseases of peaches and other stone fruits which has been extensively tested. The loss by these diseases runs far into the millions every year. The price of the bulletin is 10c.

The Army register for 1910 has been a little later in making its appearance than in some former years, but is now available, price 50c.

Census enumerators, of whom there are 75,000, will be studious persons for a time now, if they never were before. Their official book of instructions has been issued. Each enumerator is told that he must read it through from cover to cover immediately. This is merely preliminary to the thorough study of the document which is required. Seventy-five thousand of them at work on this at once. Think of it!

Circular 154, Animal Industry Bureau, urges the need of State and municipal meat inspection to supplement the existing Federal inspection, which reaches only the great packing centers. The circular states that there is still a considerable local meat supply which escapes inspection.

The Navy register for 1910 has been published. Price 30c.

A little document prepared by the Manufactures Bureau, entitled Packing for export, has had so large a sale that it has been found necessary to print a second large edition. Because of printing such a number the cost per copy was lessened, and consequently the price of the document has been reduced from 10c. to 5c. The title Packing for export is correct as far as it goes, but not adequate, because the pamphlet also contains valuable information as to packing for domestic shipment. Numerous photographic illustrations further increase its value.

Senate document 379, 61st Congress, 2d session, is a document that will probably surprise many readers. It is a petition or memorial from American seamen praying for the passage of a bill introduced in the House as no. 11193, and in the Senate as no. 6155 intended to improve their condition. They declare in round terms that they are now nothing but slaves, that other countries treat their seamen much better, and make other like surprising statements. The entry for this document appears in the Monthly catalogue for February, 1910, page 418, under Senate.

In the 25th annual report of the Animal Industry Bureau is an interesting paper, which is issued separately also, entitled Effect of smelter fumes on the live stock industry of the Northwest. Descriptions and illustrations are given of domestic animals which have become seriously diseased though living at places several miles removed from the smelters. An earlier report gave information of injury to vegetation from the same cause. These publications naturally excite curiosity as to the effect of the fumes upon the thousands of people in Butte, Anaconda, and other cities, who live close neighbor to the smelters.

A newly issued pamphlet by the Library Joint Committee gives a list of the works of art in the Capitol building. They are numerous.

There is a new print of the bankruptcy law and forms prescribed by the Supreme Court, having two pages of addenda, one a new act, the other a new order. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 10c.

Nautical almanac, 1912, 1st edition, has been published. Price in paper 30c.

Reprint of hydrographic information, no. 12, is a pamphlet describing the port facilities of the Great Lakes. This is a sort of information in which a large number of people, both in this country and in Canada, are interested, especially just now when navigation is opening.

No. 15, National Waterways Commission series, states that 495 projects for river and harbor improvement are now under way at Government charge. Of course many are of minor importance.

The special census report on the statistics of cities of over 30,000 inhabitants for the year 1907 has just been issued. In addition to the customary financial statistics, there are special reports on a uniform system of accounting and the economic and sanitary supervision of city milk supplies. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in paper, at 65c. a copy.

A very important and interesting illustrated publication of more than 250 pages, entitled The rat and its relation to the public health, has been issued by the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service. It is not a numbered bulletin. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in paper covers, at 50c. a copy.

NEW SERIALS

The Library of Congress has begun the publication of a Monthly list of State publications, the first number bearing date Jan. 1910. The list will, as a rule, be published monthly; but the titles for two or three months may be combined in a single issue whenever they are considered insufficient for separate numbers. A subject index will be issued (probably separately) quarterly and cumulated during the year. The Monthly list will afford libraries, legislative reference departments, students, collectors, and public officials, for the first time a ready means of learning what all the States are publishing. A current guide to the State documents has long been a desideratum, and the need for it constantly increases as the volume and importance of such publications grow. The List will be supplied to subscribers by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c. a year, payable in advance. Subscription lists are now open and the January number is ready for delivery.

Vol. 1, no. 1 of the Monthly bulletin of the Library of the Agriculture Department, listing the accessions to that library for Jan. 1910, has just been issued. Formerly the list of accessions had been published quarterly. The first number of the Monthly bulletin lists nearly 500 titles for a single month, indicating a rapid growth of a collection already remarkable. A list of "wants", also printed in no. 1, may be taken to indicate that the Department aims at a complete collection of agricultural publications.

The Documents Office is now sending to subscribers the decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission in separate sheets, each decision being separately printed immediately after being handed down. This advance method of distribution began with the first decision which is to be bound in vol. 18 of the permanent edition in the series known as Interstate Commerce Commission Reports. This first decision is Opinion no. 1165 in the general numerical series. The advance sheets cannot be supplied by this office for any volume earlier than vol. 18. All of the separate prints which will ultimately compose vol. 18 will be mailed to subscribers as soon as printed for $1.00. The advance sheets for following volumes of the Interstate Commerce Commission Reports will be supplied in the same way and on the same terms.

ENGINEER FIELD MANUAL

This popular textbook of engineering, originally published in six parts and for a considerable time out of print, is now again available, and at a reduced price, the six parts in one volume, bound in leather, being sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 a copy.

NATIONAL MONETARY COMMISSION SERIES

The descriptive list of its proposed publications, more than 50 in number, which was issued by the National Monetary Commission, has been reprinted as a sales list, giving the prices that will be charged so far as the stage of printing permitted prices to be made. Copies of this list will be supplied to applicants by the Documents Office.

The Superintendent of Documents has been authorized to reprint these documents for sale and to him intending buyers should remit. The documents in this series which have been priced are the following, all in paper:

Address by Senator Aldrich. Work of National Monetary Commission	10c
Digest of State banking statutes	70c
Discount system in Europe	10c
Fiscal systems of England, France, Germany, and United States	15c
German bank inquiry of 1908	90c
History of banking in Canada	30c
Interviews on banking and currency systems of England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy	55c

National Bank of Belgium 25c
Reichsbank, 1876–1900 ..... 35c
Special report from banks of United States, 1909 ..... 30c
Suggested changes in administrative features of national banking laws 40c
Swiss banking law 30c
Use of credit instruments in payments in United States 25c

It is intended that ultimately these publications will be rearranged and published in more permanent form, but no plans or dates have yet been made for this. Those who wish to order the whole series may remit $15.00 to the Superintendent of Documents, which will probably cover the total cost. Should a surplus remain it will be refunded; if the amount is found to be insufficient the purchaser will be notified.

NATIONAL WATERWAYS COMMISSION SERIES

The National Waterways Commission, whose membership is made up of seven Senators and five Representatives, with Senator Burton of Ohio as Chairman, has published for the use of the Commission a series of numbered documents, 15 being the latest issue received by the Superintendent of Documents. These will later on be published in permanent form for general public use, the manner and date of this form having not yet been determined upon.

RECIPROCITY IN DOCUMENTS

By a somewhat unusual arrangement with certain railroad companies the Reclamation Service has been able to secure with little or no cost for printing a supply of attractive colored folders with which to advertise the great irrigation projects in the West which are attracting many settlers by the golden prospects which they hold out. The Reclamation Service has been supplying the descriptions and explanations—one set for each irrigation project—the railroads have been designing and printing the showy folders, and both the railroads and the Service have been distributing this attractive advertising matter where it would do the most good. There has been, however, this important distinction: the copies distributed by the railroads have contained railroad advertising matter, but the copies distributed by the Reclamation Service have advertised only the irrigation projects, the railroad advertising matter having been eliminated before the documents were mailed.

DOCUMENTS REVIEWED

The Philadelphia evening telegraph of March 19, 1910, has this to say of a popular new publication which is numbered 391 in the Farmers' bulletin series:

> The issuance of a cook book by the Department of Agriculture is a piece of paternalism that housekeepers will welcome. The Economic Use of Meats in the Home is the title of the publication sanctioned by Secretary Wilson. It tells housewives how cheaper cuts of meat should be prepared to make them thoroughly palatable, and gives other useful hints in domestic economy.

The insistent clamor over the high cost of living inspired the preparation of the book, and now that it has appeared the providers of the family larder should avail themselves of its advice. There is no doubt that improvidence and preventable waste are responsible for much of the present trouble, and the publication of the Government cook book should help to remedy the disorder.

Farmers' bulletin 391 and the other Farmers' bulletins are sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. each, except no. 270, which is 10c.

The New York Sun of March 12, 1910, has this notice of a new public document:

An excellent little monograph of an almost extinct race has been written by David I. Bushnell, Jr., in The Choctaw of Bayou Lacomb, St. Tammany Parish, Louisiana (Bulletin 48 of the Bureau of Ethnology; Government Printing Office, Washington). The author found pure Indians among those left, though the Government had removed the greater number to the Indian Territory in 1902. He found pottery and other relics in their mounds, examined their industries and customs, gathered their legends, rites, folklore, and dances, and has built up a complete account of their past civilization from the few half civilized Choctaws he came across.

Bulletin 48 is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, in cloth binding, at 40c. a copy.

The superintendent of a great railroad system in writing to the Superintendent of Documents for copies of Education Bureau bulletin 10, series of 1909, Education for efficiency in railroad service, said: "This document should be considered a railroad classic." This high praise is no doubt well deserved, but the price of the classic remains at 15c. as heretofore.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD AS LITERATURE

The Congressional record is mailed daily by the Superintendent of Documents to subscribers for $1.50 a month, and single numbers can be supplied back to March 4, 1897, at prices depending on the size of the number, which varies widely from day to day according to the amount of business done and the number of speeches made in Congress.

The common conception that the Congressional record is a formal, dry-as-dust publication is not justified by recent issues of that interesting and up-to-date daily paper.

This is not the place to catalogue the contents of the Record, but it may not be amiss to give a sketchy reference to some of the chief literary features of three or four March numbers.

March 22 (vol. 45, no. 76) the issue opened with a speech of more than 20,000 words by Mr. Moore of Pennsylvania under the title Peary's discovery of the North Pole. It is a most interesting story of Peary's voyages, adventures, struggles, and successes, fortified at all points by official documents and other evidence. Further on Mr. Ellerbe of South Carolina introduced an original poem (not of his own composition) entitled Bwana Tumbo. Mr. Aiken of South Carolina supplied for publication 19 letters by Mr. Zach McGee, descriptive of a bicycle trip recently made by him through the manufacturing districts of England for the purpose of learning the social and economical condition of the people. There are over 25,000 words in these letters, besides a good many figures, and their tendency is to show that English mill-hands and their families are better off than has been generally supposed in this country. No. 76 carries also the reprint of a paper by Lewis Nixon on An American merchant marine. Besides these are the contributions of the Senators and Representatives themselves, notable among them being speeches on the Court of Commerce by Senator Clapp of Minnesota, concerning prisoners of war by Mr. Taylor of Ohio, and on the question of old age as applied to Government clerks by Mr. Sheppard of Texas, the latter being an especially noteworthy effort.

The Record of the next day, March 23d (vol. 45, no. 77) carries Senator Cummins's speech on the Court of Commerce, etc., fully 80,000 words long, or enough to fill an ordinary 12mo book of more than 150 pages. In the same number Mr. Sulzer of New York appends to his speech on the raising of the Maine a choice collection of newspaper clippings, including several copies of verses.

The Record for March 28th (vol. 45, no. 81) carries a speech by Mr. Kahn of California, under the heading Muckrakers of other days. By industrious research in the Library of Congress Mr. Kahn has gathered an extraordinary collection of the abuse which editors and pamphleteers showered upon Washington, Jay, the Adamses, Jefferson, Jackson, and other great Americans in the early days of the Republic.

The Record for March 29th (vol. 45, no. 82) contains an elaborate speech by Senator Owen of Oklahoma in support of the bill to establish a department of public health, to which are appended many scientific reports and other corroborative documents and several diagrams illustrating the congestion of population in the slums of New York, making a health document of wide scope and permanent value. This number has also an important speech by Senator Heyburn of Idaho on Resurveys of public lands; also the speech on the Naval appropriation bill, with important statistical appendixes, by Mr. Hobson of Alabama; also a strong speech in favor of forest conservation by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon.

What great daily newspaper or magazine can offer a more varied or entertaining miscellany? And all of the features mentioned are in addition to the current proceedings and debates of Congress, often highly spiced with wit and humor, and which should on other grounds attract all who feel an interest in the conduct of the Government under which they live and to which they owe allegiance.

INTERESTING COMMITTEE REPORTS

Quite a number of Congressional committee reports on interesting subjects have been issued during the current month.

Representative Dawson on the 16th presented House report 781 on House bill 22685, to establish a naval observatory, etc. Of course the Naval Observatory has been established for many years, and the real purpose of the bill is to change the regulations governing it so that an accomplished astronomer, though a civilian, may be made superintendent and continued in office for a long term of years in the hope that discoveries may be made such as the perfection of the equipment would seem to make not only possible but probable.

Under the present law the superintendent of the Observatory must be a naval officer, who may or may not be an astronomer, and in either case is subject to transfer at any moment. Legislation of the character proposed was recommended by the President in his annual message.

Senator Wetmore, March 15, presented Senate report 401, recommending the passage of the bill to enlarge the Capitol grounds by condemning several squares of land lying between the Capitol and the Union Station, and to open a broad and direct avenue from the Union Station to Pennsylvania avenue at the Peace monument. This bill has since passed the Senate with an appropriation of $3,600,000. The proposed improvement is of course of great interest to Washington people, and also in all probability to most citizens of the country at large. It would give all arriving visitors an immediate unobstructed view of the Capitol group of buildings, thus supplying, when the Plaza improvement shall have been completed, probably the finest railroad approach possessed by any city in the world.

Representative Pray, March 15, presented House report 767, favoring the bill for the creation of Glacier national park on the northern boundary of Montana. The report shows that the region included in the proposed park is a veritable wonderland, second only to the Yellowstone Park reservation. Glacier park, in its 1300 square miles, would include 60 glaciers, 250 lakes, and unnumbered forests, streams, cataracts, and mountains.

Senator Gallinger, March 16, presented Senate report 405, recommending the passage of the bill to incorporate the Rockefeller foundation. As printed, it includes the interesting statement made by Mr. Starr J. Murphy, on behalf of Mr. Rockefeller, of the purposes of the founder in planning his colossal scheme of benevolence.

Representative Hobson, March 15, presented House report 763, favoring the passage of the bill to make it a misdemeanor, punishable by both fine and imprisonment, to exclude from places of amusement or other places any persons because of their wearing the uniform of the United States.

These are by no means the only Congressional reports presented in March which are good reading.

A CORRECTION

In the Monthly catalogue for September, 1909, attention was called to the fact that in the numbered series of special consular reports issued by the Manufactures Bureau the number 40 had been duplicated on two reports relating to widely different subjects, namely, Motor machines (in 2 parts) and the Soya bean. Librarians will please note that the publishing bureau has withdrawn the number 40 from the soya bean report, which now stands as an unnumbered consular report.

CORRECTION FOR FEBRUARY, 1910, MONTHLY CATALOGUE

PATENT OFFICE

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes Specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes. The single copies are not enumerated in this catalogue but may be obtained for 5c. each at the Patent Office. Beginning with Jan. 1, 1910, the Superintendent of Documents will sell the monthly volumes at $5.00 per volume or $60 per year, and back numbers, prior to 1907, may be had at $3.00 per volume or $36 per year.

A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Patent Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10 per volume and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free of charge upon application to the Patent Office. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawing. These coupons are good until used, but are only to be used for orders sent to the Patent Office. For schedule of office fees, address Chief Clerk, Patent Office.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

Biological Survey Bureau Circular 71, issued April 11, 1910, contains maps or diagrams, and very brief descriptions, of seven bird and mammal reservations in Alaska which were established by President Roosevelt during the closing days of his administration. One of them, the Fire Island reservation, is the breeding ground of the Alaskan moose and some of the reserved islands in Bering Sea are rookeries of sea lions, and all of the reservations are breeding grounds for seabirds or ducks and geese. The Alaska game law, which is a part of the new Federal criminal code, provides penalties of fine or imprisonment, or both, for interference with or disturbance of birds or beasts on these reservations.

House report 1000, 61st Congress, 2d session, entered in this catalogue under Library Committee, House, favors the passage of a bill to establish a commission of nine persons "of the highest standing for scholarship and judgment in the field of United States history", whose duty it shall be to pass upon the merit of historical compilations or narratives which the Government is asked to publish. The report refers for further information and elucidation to Senate document 714, 60th Congress, 2d session, which is a report on national historical publications made under the auspices of the Keep Commission, by an assistant committee of nine historical writers and teachers, including Charles Francis Adams, Admiral Mahan, and Worthington C. Ford. This reviews the existing documentary historical publications of the Government, points out the gaps in the record that should be filled, and discusses the general subject in an illuminating way. Beyond question the plan of having the work of publishing historical material supervised by historians has merit and Congressional authorization for it is to be desired.

The Bureau of American Republics has outdone itself in issuing the May number of its Bulletin as a dedication number, celebrating the dedication of its new building. The ceremonies occurred April 26 and the new Bulletin was received at the Public Documents Office April 29. It is most profusely, elaborately, and beautifully illustrated, really a work of art.

The Manufactures Bureau has completed an international commercial directory and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor has asked Congress for an appropriation of $6,500 to pay for printing it. When printed it will be sold by the Superintendent of Documents.

The Annual report of the governor of the district of Alaska for 1909 carries a large folded map of the district and a nine-page list of Government publications relating thereto. The governor reports that the white population remains stationary at about 33,000, and the Indian population at about 35,000. He does not expect much increase until there has been more railroad building. The price of this report, in paper covers, is 20c.

Pheasant raising in the United States is the subject of Farmers' bulletin 390, issued during April. It has illustrations of several varieties of pheasants, a history of pheasant-raising in Europe and America, description of methods, a chapter on diseases of pheasants, etc. This and the other Farmers' bulletins, of which there are now about 400, are sold by the Superintendent of Documents at the uniform price of 5c. each, except no. 270, which is 10c.

New Alaskan publications, besides the Annual report of the governor, elsewhere spoken of, are the Report of the Alaska Road Commission and the Report of the Fisheries Bureau on the Alaska fishery industry for 1909. This latter report discredits the popular belief that the Alaskan salmon are near extermination by showing that the catch of 1908 was the largest on record and that of 1909 nearly as great.

It is not to be inferred, because the Agriculture Department has issued a popular cook-book, that it is not frequently scientific. Among its issues for April is Animal Industry Bureau Bulletin 120, entitled The intracellular enzyms of Penicillium and Aspergillus, with special reference to those of Penicillium Camemberti. The bulletin includes also a five-page bibliography. Another April issue is Plant Industry Bureau Bulletin 173, Seasonal nitrification as influenced by crops and tillage.

Investigators who are in search of foreign food prices will find extensive and authentic material in a new publication of the Navy Department, under the title Statement giving prices paid by vessels of Navy for subsistence supplies purchased at foreign ports during the calendar years 1900 to 1909.

Fisheries Bureau Bulletin, vol. 28, for the year 1908, will contain and be mainly made up of the proceedings and papers of the Fourth International Fishery Congress, held in Washington, Sept. 1908. The papers are now in course of publication as "separates", or pamphlets, containing each one paper. The date of issue of the complete bulletin has not yet been announced.

A new document which has a very interesting look is Senate document 447, 61st Congress, 2d session, presented by Senator Hale, and entered in this catalogue under Senate. It has the title How we built the Union Pacific Railway and other railway papers and addresses, and the author is Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, who was chief engineer of the Union Pacific, 1866–1900. The pamphlet is generously illustrated and the narrative is full of incident.

Habit-forming agents, their indiscriminate sale and use a menace to the public welfare, is the title of Farmers' bulletin 393, just issued by the Chemistry Bureau. It is a timely warning against the general use of cure-alls, soft drinks, etc., many of which, it says, contain cocaine, chloroform, morphine, and other poisons.

Another attractive new number in that wonderfully varied series of Farmers' bulletins is 389, Bread and bread making, by Helen W.

Atwater, and issued by the Experiment Stations Office. It supersedes Farmers' bulletin 112, published ten years ago. It is a pamphlet that will do a world of good if widely circulated and well lived up to.

International classification of causes of sickness and death, as revised by the international commission at the session of Paris, July 1 to 3, 1909, for use Jan. 1, 1910, to Dec. 31, 1919, is the title of a new publication of the Census Bureau, which must be of much interest to the great and increasing number of scientifically trained persons who are giving time and study to health problems.

Bulletin 176 of the Plant Industry Bureau is the 20th inventory of the importations of plants and seeds from foreign countries by the Agriculture Department. The numbers of the importations listed in this inventory are 25718–26047. There is an introduction pointing out the importations of special merit and an index of common as well as of scientific names.

The honor of being printed in the largest edition ever ordered of a public document of the United States seemed about to fall to Farmers' bulletin 391, Economical use of meats in the home, when the House passed a joint resolution providing for printing a million copies. However, when it got to the Senate it was amended by substituting 300,000. To this the House disagreed, but after conference the two branches agreed on half a million and this edition was ordered, 100,000 to go to the Senate for distribution and 400,000 to the House, giving Senators, Representatives, and the principal officers of the two houses just about 1,000 copies each. The cost of printing this pamphlet of 45 pages without cover in such a very large edition will be but little over a cent a copy.

The House Committee on Agriculture has presented a report favoring a bill having for its purpose the conservation of navigable rivers.

Librarians will probably be interested to know that the Printing Committee has introduced in the Senate a bill (S. 7661) to abolish the "members' reserve," and supported it with a strong report (Senate report no. 568). This "reserve" is an edition of 500 copies of all Congressional documents printed and held in reserve for two years to be bound on the order of Senators and Representatives in such style as they might prefer within a fixed limit of cost. Previous to the passage of the general printing law of 1895 Members were allotted also a complete set of documents bound in full sheep. This set was cut off by the law of 1895, and a few years ago the present reserve was cut down from 500 to 300. Even as reduced only a small part of this "reserve" is ordered out for binding. Any Senator or Representative may get from the "up number" the single copy which he is entitled to have bound for his personal use. For these and other reasons the "members' reserve" has become obsolete, and if the bill to abolish it should become a law and the whole rather costly edition disappear it would hardly be missed.

One large volume of hearings held before the Select Committee of the Senate relative to wages and prices of commodities has been printed and three large volumes of Investigation of the Department of the Interior and of the Forestry Service. Neither investigation is completed.

There is a new tariff compilation, 1789 to 1909, of 1040 pages issued by the Printing Joint Committee. This includes the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as well as all the preceding ones, with all amendments, etc. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents in cloth binding at $1.50. Its document designation is 61st Congress, 2d session, H. doc. 671.

Tariff series 24, Manufactures Bureau, is Consular regulations of foreign countries. It contains information as to procedure, fees, etc., necessary for American exporters.

There will be great doings in South America this year. The United States has sent commissioners, in naval vessels, to Buenos Aires and to Santiago. For details, portraits of commissioners, etc., see Bulletin of the International Bureau of the American Republics for April, 1910.

Tide tables for 1911 has been issued by the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Among the April publications is Drill regulations for machine-gun platoons, infantry, Army. Paper, 15c.

The new (3d) edition of the Engineer field manual (Professional papers 29, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.) is at last ready for delivery, in full leather, pocketbook style, identical with the copies supplied to the regular Army. Price, $1.00.

Forms of procedure for courts and boards in the Navy and Marine Corps, just issued by the Navy Department, is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 60c. in cloth.

There is a new print of the publication entitled The isthmian canal, by H. H. Rousseau, a member of the Isthmian Canal Commission. In paper covers, 5c.

The 3d and last edition of the Official Congressional directory for the 61st Congress, 2d session, is published in green cloth, price 60c. First editions of the Directory are always bound in red cloth, 2d editions in blue, 3d editions in green. Two editions are issued at each short session of Congress, three editions at each long session.

THE NEW YEARBOOK

The Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture for 1909 is now on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00 a copy.

Each new number of this famous manual of the art and the science of agriculture in all its multiform branches seems more interesting and valuable than any of its predecessors. How the scientific farmers, naturalists, chemists, and pathologists of the Department contrive to find so much of novelty and utility year after year is an inquiry to which there is no answer, but which must arouse the wonder and admiration of all who attempt to fathom it. Perhaps the paper in the present number which has the most freshness and present-day interest is the one which has been given the place of honor in the compilation, immediately following the Secretary's annual report. Its title is The farmers' cooperative demonstration work, and it is written by Mr. S. A. Knapp, who is the special agent in charge of that interesting and novel work. It describes the methods by which "object lessons" in all branches of successful farming are brought to the very doors of the farmer. This work now extends into twelve States, employs 375 traveling agents, and has thousands of demonstration farms. Through boys' corn clubs, field schools, and cooperation with superintendents of education and others, many thousands of farmers and farm boys have scientific farming made so easy for them that no excuse is left for failing to become experts. The means by which ambition and competition have been aroused among farm boys, and the fine results that have followed, make a noteworthy chapter in American agricultural history. This paper, like nearly all the papers in the book, is reinforced by pictures which really illustrate. Those illustrating the paper called Promising new fruits are in colors, and there is also a remarkable, many-colored, natural-size picture of a surprising ear of corn.

GALLATIN ON ROADS AND CANALS

Albert Gallatin was Secretary of the Treasury under Presidents Jefferson and Madison, and held the record for continuous length of service in the Cabinet till James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt, and Taft, eclipsed it. April 4, 1808, Secretary Gallatin, responding to a Senate resolution of March 2, 1807, sent to George Clinton, President of the Senate, a report on roads and canals which has ever since been rated as a classic. It was ordered printed April 12, 1808, and was ordered reprinted April 19, 1910, the new issue being denominated Senate document 499, 61st Congress, 2d session. It is described on the title page as "Reprint from State Paper No. 250, Tenth Congress, First Session." This implies that there was a numbered series of documents known as State papers issued in the 10th Congress and that Gallatin's report was no. 250 in that series. This is inaccurate. There was no numbering of Congressional documents till the 13th Congress, and a complete numbering system for all the documents of both branches was not adopted till the 15th Congress. The number 250 is derived from Class 10, Miscellaneous, vol. 1, of Gales and Seaton's American State papers, this volume having been issued in 1834. This whole series is in 38 volumes, the compilation having been nominally made jointly by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House, but really by Gen. William Hickey, who was for a generation chief clerk in the office of the Secretary of the Senate, and was in his day a noted compiler and expert in public documents.

New sets of numbers were created for the use of the Gales and Seaton compilation. There is a set for each of the ten classes in which the documents are arranged, namely, Class 1, Foreign relations, 6 vols.; Class 2, Indian affairs, 2 vols.; Class 3, Finance, 5 vols.; Class 4, Commerce and navigation, 2 vols.; Class 5, Military affairs, 7 vols.; Class 6, Naval affairs, 4 vols.; Class 7, Postoffice Department, 1 vol.; Class 8, Public lands, 8 vols.; Class 9, Claims, 1 vol.; Class 10, Miscellaneous, 2 vols. The documents are arranged in chronological order and numbered, beginning with the first document in vol. 1 of each class and running in consecutive order through all the volumes of that class. For the first 12 Congresses, in which the documents were not numbered when published, the numbers given to the reprints mattered little one way or the other, but reprints from later Congresses, which had been originally printed in one or the other of the Congressional numbered series, are reprinted under the new numbers only, the original numbers being dropped and no mention made of them.

Gallatin's report on roads and canals is reprinted in vol. 1 of Class 10 as no. 250. As given there it includes numerous accompanying papers, one of them being by B. H. Latrobe, architect of the Capitol, and another by Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat; also several maps. These do not appear in the latest reprint.

In these days of great projects Mr. Gallatin's plans and estimates of a hundred years ago seem modest indeed. He estimated the total revenues of the Government for the years 1809–1815 at $14,000,000 annually, and the expenditures at $8,500,000. From the surplus he thought that in times of peace $2,000,000 a year might be applied to internal improvements.

MONTHLY WEATHER REVIEW

An important change in the method of publication of the Monthly weather review is announced. The annual summary number will not be issued for 1909 nor following years. The tabular matter heretofore issued in the summary numbers will be published in part in the quarto edition of the Annual report of the chief of the Weather Bureau. The title-page and index for vol. 37 (1909) will be separately printed and sent to all subscribers to whom the Dec. 1909 Review has been sent.

THE YANKEE DOODLE BOOK

Apparently speculation has been attempted in this popular Government publication. The New York Nation of April 28, 1910, has this reference to it:

> Herbert Putnam, librarian of Congress, desires us to make known the fact that the "Report on the Star-Spangled Banner, Hail Columbia, America, Yankee Doodle, by O. G. T. Sonneck, chief of the division of music, which has been offered for sale by certain private concerns for $1.25, can be obtained of the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, at 85 cents a copy."

This handsome illustrated report, embodying the results of long research, is a cheap book, even at $1.25, but that is no reason why a purchaser should pay 40c. more than the price at which it is sold by the Superintendent of Documents.

RESULTS OF MEDICAL RESEARCH AWAITING PUBLICATION

The Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service has had returned to it for lack of funds to pay for printing the manuscripts of six treatises which it had transmitted to the Treasury Department for publication. These all relate to serious and timely matters affecting the public health, the titles being as follows: Hookworm disease, its nature, treatment, and prevention; The microscopic anatomy of ticks, etc.; Transactions of the Seventh Annual Conference of State Health authorities with the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service; General observations on the bionomics of rodent and human fleas; Studies upon leprosy; Soil pollution and its relation to hookworm disease and typhoid fever.

Besides these six, the Service has nine other manuscripts ready which are withheld from publication for lack of funds. The nine titles are: The influence of age and temperature on the potency of diphtheria antitoxin; The presence of an organism in the filtered water of Washington, D. C., agglutinated by the serum of typhoid fever patients; The effect of restricted diet and various diets upon the resistance of animals to certain poisons; The bleaching of flour, and the effect of various drugs upon the toxicity of nitrites; Some problems and facts concerning rabies; The solubilities of the organic acids and salts of the Pharmacopœia; Digest of comments on the Pharmacopœia, etc.; The action of light upon the eye, with special reference to the mercury arc as an artificial illuminant; The prevention of tuberculosis.

These topics are all of timely and practical medical interest, the ticks and fleas considered being those that are known to carry contagious disease. Such a congestion of medical literature has led the Secretary of the Treasury to ask Congress for a separate appropriation of $50,000 to pay for printing for the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service for the fiscal year which will end June 30, 1911. Surely the results of the labors of this able corps of medical investigators should be published to the world.

CONGRESSIONAL TABLES, 53D CONGRESS

The following error has been discovered in serial number 3224, and a note should be added to the Advance sheets of 3d edition of Checklist of United States public documents, Congressional tables, 53d Congress, issued by the Superintendent of Documents:

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE.—The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas (issued in Library and Field editions) and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios (either Library or Field editions), whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see next page.

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given, octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports, are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 61st Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

The final report of the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission is published. The Commissioners were appointed by President McKinley Mar. 9, 1901, and the Commission, after numerous extensions of its term, became extinct May 2, 1910. By the Treaty of Paris, Dec. 1898, the United States and Spain mutually agreed to relinquish all claims for indemnity against each other, individual as well as national, the United States at the same time agreeing to adjudicate and settle the claims of its citizens against Spain. It was for the examination of these claims that the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission was created. During the nine years of its existence it examined 542 claims, involving $64,931,694. It awarded altogether only $1,387,845.

The briefs filed with the late Spanish Treaty Claims Commission have been bound in 23 volumes and sets deposited for preservation in the State Department, the Justice Department, and the Library of Congress. An Index-digest, referring to these sets, has been compiled and published as volume 24, completing the set.

Chapter 30, Report of the Commissioner of Education for 1909, is the annual report on education in Alaska. It has been printed in a pamphlet, which includes also an Appendix not to be found in the bound volumes of the Education report. The reindeer service is also reported upon in this publication, and it is accompanied by a map showing the location of the schools and deer herds, both of which are scattered over a vast territory, ranging from 55 degrees north latitude in the Alexander Archipelago to 71 degrees at Point Barrow. The reindeer experiment is proving successful, and Mr. Updegraff, chief of the Alaska Division, reports that the benefits to the natives by the income derived from the herds "are almost incalculable."

Soils Bureau Bulletin 64 is entitled Fertilizers for corn soils and Bulletin 65 is Fertilizers for potato soils. The first summarizes the results of 6,394 tests made at the agricultural experiment stations and the second summarizes the results of 1,769 such tests. These bulletins are sold at 5c. each.

Bulletin 85 of the Labor Bureau, being the number for Nov. 1909, though only now issued, gives the text of the labor laws enacted during the years 1908 and 1909, and is thus virtually a supplement to the 22d annual report of the Commissioner of Labor, that report being a compilation of the labor laws, both Federal and State, up to the close of the year 1907. Bulletin 85 carries also a review and summary of the new laws and a combined index to the bulletin, the 22d report, and the judicial decisions on labor questions which have been handed down since the publication of the 22d report. Bulletin 85 is priced at 25c.

The proceedings of the 14th annual meeting of the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers, held at Portland, Oregon, August, 1909, is a publication that must be pleasing to all who feel an interest in the improvement of agriculture because it shows so clearly the zeal of the workers in a good cause. The addresses and discussions turned largely upon ways and means for increasing the attendance of farmers at the institutes and for otherwise bringing the gospel of scientific farming closer home to those who are to profit by it. An interesting incidental point appears in the presidential address of Mr. Ellsworth, a Massachusetts man, concerning wild deer. Though deer are among the most timid and defenseless of animals, and though Massachusetts has been inhabited for nearly three hundred years by civilized man, recognized by all philosophers as the fiercest and most destructive of predatory creatures, yet Mr. Ellsworth says that in his State, under existing protective laws, deer have become so numerous as to be "a serious nuisance" to farmers.

A timely compilation is An Index-digest of decisions under the Federal safety-appliance acts. The first safety-appliance law was enacted in 1893 and amendatory acts were passed in 1896 and 1903. A large number of cases have arisen under these acts and have not been reported separately, but intermingled with other kinds of cases in the 17 published volumes of decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This special index and digest has thus become almost a necessity.

The Forest Service has issued a new map of the National forests, showing their location and also the transportation routes by which they are reached and the headquarters of the supervisors to whom requests for information should be addressed.

The new United States Court of Customs Appeals has published its rules, and with them the sections of the new tariff act by which the Court was created.

Bulletin 58, Soils Bureau, Composition of commercial fertilizers, gives valuable information to those interested.

The muskrat is the title of Farmers' bulletin 396. The author, Mr. Lantz, believes that this little animal should be protected because of its fur. Five million of its pelts have been sold in London in a single year, and though in the undressed condition they are cheap, nobody knows in what form of sophistication or at what increase of cost they reach the "ultimate consumer." It is stated that in several cities muskrats are sold for food under the name of "marsh rabbits," and the bulletin gives several recipes for cooking them. Though in many places the muskrat does much harm by burrowing into embankments and by feeding on various crops, yet in many other places, as in large swamps, it multiplies without injury. It is not exclusively a vegetable feeder, though such is the general belief.

A revision of Geological Survey Bulletin 305, Analysis of silicate and carbonate rocks, has been issued as Bulletin 422. Price 25c.

New editions of Farmers' bulletins have been issued as follows: No. 142, Principles of nutrition and nutritive value of food, corrected to April 20, 1910; No. 375, Care of food in the home, corrected to March 25, 1910; No. 391, Economical use of meat in the home, corrected April 5, 1910. These and the other Farmers' bulletins are sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5 cents a copy.

A 52-page "separate" reprinted from the annual report of the Commissioner of Navigation for 1909 carries the title Ocean-mail systems of ship subsidies of the world. It contains much interesting information and more strenuous argument on a disputed political question than one often finds in a bureau report.

The Reclamation Service has issued a new edition of Hydraulic and excavation tables and is selling it at $1.25 in cloth.

A narrow octavo pamphlet, in green paper, entitled The Panama canal, has been printed in the Canal Zone and received in Washington. Though of but 18 pages, it contains more absolute information about the Canal than almost anything else that has been issued. It has contour and profile maps of the Canal and plans and cross-sections of Culebra and Gatun.

Senate document 486, 61st Congress, 2d session, is a report on the Use of cold storage, the data being supplied by Dr. Wiley, chief of the Chemistry Bureau. It embodies the fruit of the latest researches. Price 5c.

There is a strong popular demand for official Government cook books. There is quite a list of these, the latest addition being the Manual for army bakers, 1910, otherwise known as War Dept. doc. 358. It is a small quarto, bound in fabricoid (imitation leather), and sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 35c.

A 32-page pamphlet from the Geological Survey has this title: Coöperation between the United States and various States in topographic, hydrographic, and geologic work. There has been a great deal of these kinds of coöperation and it has been mutually profitable.

A new scientific bulletin for which a considerable demand sprang up even in advance of its publication is Technical series 18, Entomology Bureau, The anatomy of the honey bee. It is now in stock and can be supplied by the Superintendent of Documents at 20c. a copy.

Senate document 427, 61st Congress, 2d session, is a report by the Commissioner of Labor on Pension funds for municipal employees and railroad pension systems in the United States. Two hundred and nineteen municipal pension systems for teachers, firemen, and policemen in 31 States and 99 cities and 22 railroad pension systems are reported on. The Superintendent of Documents has a limited supply of this document for sale at 10c. a copy. The catalogue entry for this document appeared in the Monthly catalogue for April, 1910, page 585, under the heading Labor Bureau.

The pure food law was enacted to prevent the adulteration of foods and drugs in ways to make them poisonous. Now we have a new law (Public 152, the catalogue entry for which appeared in the Monthly catalogue for April, 1910, page 588, under the subhead Insecticides) to prevent the adulteration of poisons in ways to make them less poisonous. Yet there is no contradiction in these laws. Poisons have their legitimate uses, and the man who buys poison is as much entitled to have good poison as the food-buyer is to have good food. The particular poisons whose integrity is protected by the new law are those which are now so extensively used in spraying fruit trees to free them from insect pests.

Gustavus Vasa Fox is not a familiar name nowadays, but as Capt. G. V. Fox, assistant Secretary of the Navy, it was very well known during the Civil War. Soon after the war Capt. Fox was sent to Russia as bearer to the then Czar, Alexander II, of the congratulations of Congress upon his escape from an attempted assassination. The American envoy was very ceremoniously received in Russia and was the recipient of numerous gifts and testimonials. Some of these were presented to the Smithsonian Institution by Capt. Fox. The remainder have now by bequest of Mrs. Virginia L. W. Fox become the property of the National Museum, and the whole collection is on exhibition as the Gustavus Vasa Fox collection of Russian souvenirs. The Museum has issued a pamphlet describing and illustrating the exhibit. The official designations of this document are: No. 1725, Proceedings U. S. National Museum, vol. 38, pages 1–15, plates 1–8. The catalogue entry for this publication appeared in the Monthly catalogue for April, 1910, page 644, under the heading National Museum.

A FARMERS' LIBRARY

The remarkable series of public documents known as the Farmers' bulletins of the Department of Agriculture has now reached its four hundredth number, no. 400 being entitled A more profitable corn-planting method. It describes the investigations by which it has been determined that the farmer who plants the half dozen kernels of corn which go to a hill in such manner that each one may have a few inches of space to itself instead of the whole being bunched together will considerably increase his yield. It also shows him how he may do it. This is a typical instance of the minuteness of the inquiries by which the Agriculture Department for a score of years past has been aiding the American farmer. Almost every phase of modern farming and stock-raising that is capable of popular treatment has been at some time treated in this series. All of the 11 scientific bureaus of the Department—Animal Industry, Biological Survey, Chemistry, Entomology, Experiment Stations Office,

Forest Service, Plant Industry, Public Roads, Soils, Statistics, and Weather Bureau—have contributed to it, but always in popular style, so that the information given, however scientific it may be, and however extended and abstruse the studies by which it has been obtained, is presented in form to be intelligible to anybody who can read the English language.

The publication of the series began in 1889 with a Bulletin of 16 pages under the title The what and why of agricultural experiment stations. The original intention was to make the distribution of the bulletins free to all applicants at home and abroad and this intention was adhered to for many years, some thousands of copies of each number having been allotted to each Senator and Representative in Congress as a means of facilitating the distribution. As the scope of the series became very extensive and its character widely known the applications for free copies became too numerous for an unlimited free distribution. Though the bulletins have been printed by millions for several years past, and up to the full limit of the Department's appropriation, the editions have not been equal to the demands. The first limitation, as was natural, was put upon the applications from foreign countries. These for some time past have not been filled free. The next limitation was upon schools which apply for large numbers of the same bulletin for class use. There have been many of these, as in several branches the Farmers' bulletins make good textbooks. All applications which the Department feels itself unable to fill on the free basis it turns over to the Superintendent of Documents, who offers the bulletins to applicants at the uniform price of 5c. a copy. The Superintendent of Documents also receives numerous direct orders for Farmers' bulletins. He is authorized to print copies of these and other public documents for sale, and does so, but has no supply for free distribution. His office has no official connection with the Department of Agriculture, but there is a somewhat extensive coöperation between them.

Though the bulletins number only 400, so numerous have been the revised editions and reprints that the separate issues must have numbered nearly or quite a thousand. Of these about 300 are now available for sale. Some of the early numbers have been allowed to drop out of sight because they are no longer abreast of the latest discoveries in agricultural science. Others have been superseded by later numbers on the same subjects embodying more recent or more complete and comprehensive treatment. The 300 or thereabouts still current form an unequalled popular library of agricultural science and practice. The whole may be had for about $15. An index up to no. 382 has been issued also and costs but 5c. The series is well worth binding in permanent form and preserving as a model farmers' library.

A very practical number in the Farmers' bulletin series is 394, The use of windmills in irrigation in the semiarid West.

NUMBERING THE LAWS

The Bureau of Rolls and Library, State Department, which edits for publication the first printed form of the Federal laws, known as the "slip laws", has adopted the method of numbering them in one series throughout a Congress instead of making new series for each session as was formerly done. The Bureau also separates the private from the public acts and resolutions, making four numerical series, namely: Public acts, public resolutions, private acts, private resolutions. This seems a more logical and convenient method than that followed in compiling the Statutes at large, where the slip numbers assigned by the Bureau of Rolls and Library are not retained, but instead the public and private acts taken together are arranged in chronological order and numbered consecutively, the public and private being then separated and bound in different places, the consequence being that both public and private series have broken sets of numbers. This method is repeated at each session. Numbering the "slip laws" consecutively through a whole Congress began with the 60th Congress.

NEW GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHMENTS

The President has signed laws establishing the Glacier National Park, the Bureau of Mines, and the Commission of Fine Arts.

The Park, which will include about 1300 square miles of mountainous territory in northern Montana, right up against the Canadian boundary, is said to contain not only 60 glaciers, but 250 lakes, with unnumbered forests and cataracts, and to be second only to the Yellowstone in picturesqueness.

The Fine Arts Commission is to be composed of seven members, appointed by the President, to serve four years each and until their successors are appointed. The law says that "a permanent commission is hereby created", and the form of tenure provided is no doubt intended to secure permanence not only of the Commission but also of the membership. The function of the Commission is only advisory, but it is required that its advice shall be asked by all officials who are to determine questions relating to public statues, fountains, and monuments in the District of Columbia. The Commission will have a secretary "and such other assistance as the Commission may authorize", which is certainly a liberal provision. The Commissioners themselves receive no salaries, but have their personal expenses paid. Their total expenditure is limited to $10,000 a year. They are required to advise generally upon questions of art when requested to do so by the President or a committee of Congress. If the Commission shall be so fortunate as to have tact as well as artistic training it may accomplish much, for though its powers are only advisory it will have the irresistible force of public opinion behind it in any wise and reasonable recommendations. The average citizen nowadays is fully awake to the value of civic beauty.

The Mines Bureau will belong to the Interior Department and will take over the investigations as to mining heretofore carried on by the Geological Survey. The law virtually detaches from the Survey its Technological Division, and establishes it as a separate bureau, especially assigning to the new bureau the testing of structural materials and fuels and the investigation of mine explosions.

Of course the creation of new Government establishments means the issue of more public documents. From the Glacier Park there will be at least an annual report. If the Fine Arts Commission does not write and print elaborate treatises it will be untrue to tradition and precedent. The Mines Bureau must at the least have a series of bulletins, and may reasonably be expected to improve the possibilities of its wide field by publishing also other series.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS SUBJECT HEADINGS

Heretofore the Library of Congress has sent free to all libraries on its mailing list and to depository libraries the lists of Additions and corrections to its main List of subject headings.

In the future these will not be sent gratis, but will be sold at the usual document rates, chargeable against deposits for printed cards in the Library of Congress. They may also be bought from the Superintendent of Documents. Price five cents or over, according to size. The fifth issue is now ready at five cents per copy.

The Library of Congress has begun to print, primarily for its own use, the main List of subject headings used in its dictionary catalogues, to which the lists above mentioned form the supplement. Headings beginning with the letters A and B are already printed. Sheets for the remaining letters will be printed as fast as practicable. It has been decided to print more copies of these sheets than are needed for the Catalog Division and supply them to subscribers to the cards at the usual document rates, chargeable against deposits for printed cards. The price of the sheets for letter A (64 sheets) is 25c.; for letter B (55 sheets) 20c. These also may be bought from the Superintendent of Documents at the same rates. The complete main list, covering the whole alphabet, will probably be ready for printing in a single volume in about a year.

Before ordering the sheets, libraries are requested to note the fact that this preliminary issue of the List of subject headings is printed "as manuscript", and the Library can not undertake to explain or discuss particular headings or inconsistencies.

It should also be noted that subjects in Literature, Philology, Philosophy and Religion, Military and Naval Science, Law, and Fine Arts are as yet only partially covered, these classes still remaining to be recataloged. Further, names of persons and places, societies, institutions, and bodies of various kinds, treaties, conventions, and the like, scientific names of individual chemical substances, and systematic names of genera and species in Botany and Zoology, are as a rule excluded.

SENATE EXECUTIVE JOURNALS

The fourth order for the publication of the Executive journals of the United States Senate is now in process of execution. In fact, though the order for publication was passed only on April 20, 1910, the work of printing has been going on, under confidential restrictions, for nearly or quite a year past. The first volume released under the new order, and thus far the only one, is vol. 28 of the whole series, and contains the Journals of both sessions of the 52d Congress and the special session of the 53d Congress. The order of April 20 provides for the publication of the Executive journals of the 52d–58th Congresses, Dec. 1891–Mar. 1905.

The Executive journals are, of course, the journals of the executive sessions of the Senate, which are held in secret. These journals are not printed in ordinary course, but only by special order of the Senate. The first order for this purpose was made April 4, 1828, and provided for the publication of the secret journals of the first nineteen Congresses. As a matter of fact the journals of the 20th Congress were also included, and the period of time covered was from May 25, 1789, when the first executive session was held, to Feb. 23, 1829. This issue was in three volumes, printed in Washington by Duff Green, the imprint date in each volume being 1828. The edition was 700 copies.

Fifty-eight years elapsed before another order for printing the Executive journals was passed. Its date was June 28, 1886, and it provided for publishing the journals from the close of the 20th Congress to the close of the 40th Congress, a period of forty years ending Mar. 3, 1869. One hundred copies only were ordered printed, but later the Secretary of the Senate reported that he had taken the liberty of printing 125 copies. The injunction of secrecy was not removed from this print until June 14, 1888, and at the same time a distribution was ordered which took up 107 sets, each of the then 76 Senators getting one, the Senate library five, the House library two, the Library of Congress two, and sundry officials the others, 18 sets only remaining to be held in reserve by the Senate. These facts account for the great difficulties which the representative libraries of the country have found in completing their sets of the Executive journals, especially for the 40 years from 1829 to 1869. The issue for this period, 20th to 40th Congresses, was from the Government Printing Office, imprinted 1887, and in 13 volumes, numbered 4–16, but in 15 books, volumes 14 and 15 being each in two parts.

The Senate next took up the matter of publishing the Executive journals Jan. 21, 1901, and then provided that the journals from Mar. 3, 1869, to the end of the 51st Congress (Mar. 1891), should be printed in an edition of 250 copies. They were so printed at the Government Printing Office, imprinted 1901, filling 11 volumes numbered 17–27.

The fourth issue, now in press, covering the 52d–58th Congresses, 1891–1905, is also of 250 copies, and will fill at least seven volumes, numbered 28–34, and perhaps one or two more. Vol. 28 is generously supplied with indexes, and presumably the other volumes will be equally well treated. The indexes are so numerous that a table of them is supplied. For each of the three sessions are supplied five indexes: Alphabetical, Geographical, Consular and diplomatic, Army, and Navy, making 15 separate alphabets in all, filling 312 pages or 40 per cent of the volume.

Librarians will not fail to note that though the law has provided since Jan. 12, 1895, that copies of all Government publications should be supplied to the depository libraries, no provision to that end has been made in ordering the two issues of the Executive journals published since that date.

SPECIAL AGENTS' SERIES, MANUFACTURES BUREAU

In the Monthly catalogue for April, 1910, page 585, under the heading Manufactures Bureau, is an entry for a report on Machine-tool trade in Austria-Hungary, Denmark, etc., Special agents' series 34. It was the first appearance of this series title and the first publication in the series to have a printed number. The 33 titles preceding had been assigned numbers in the publishing bureau, but they had not been published. In a note appended to the entry for no. 34 in the April Monthly catalogue it was promised that a list of the missing numbers and the titles to which they had been assigned should be given in the May catalogue. It is appended herewith. The list embraces not only the reports on trade conditions issued by the Manufactures Bureau, but also the earlier reports which do not bear the Manufactures Bureau caption but were issued by the Commerce and Labor Department.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE.—The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas (issued in Library and Field editions) and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios (either Library or Field editions), whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see next page.

NOTE. The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1 : 62,500, 1 : 125,000, and 1 : 250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes Specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes. The single copies are not enumerated in this catalogue but may be obtained for 5c. each at the Patent Office. Beginning with Jan. 1, 1910, the Superintendent of Documents will sell the monthly volumes at $5.00 per volume or $60 per year, and back numbers, prior to 1907, may be had at $3.00 per volume or $36 per year.

A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Patent Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10 per volume and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free of charge upon application to the Patent Office. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawing. These coupons are good until used, but are only to be used for orders sent to the Patent Office. For schedule of office fees, address Chief Clerk, Patent Office.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.

NORTHERN AND NORTHWESTERN LAKES SURVEY

NOTE.—Lake Survey charts may be obtained from U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., or from U. S. Engineer Office, Buffalo, N. Y. Payments must be made before charts are sent, and if made by mail must be by postal or express money order payable to the order of U. S. Lake Survey Office if ordered from Detroit, or to the order of U. S. Engineer Office if ordered from Buffalo. These charts may also be obtained, for cash only, at U. S. Canal Office at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. They will be sent by express, the express charges to be paid by the purchaser on receipt of the charts, or free by mail at the purchaser's risk. Purchasers should indicate, when ordering the charts, whether they wish them sent by express or mail. The latter will be used when no choice is indicated.

The bulletins and supplements of the Lake Survey may be obtained free upon application at U. S. Lake Survey Office, Detroit, Mich., and at the engineer offices in Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Grand Rapids, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Oswego.

General Information

The Superintendent of Documents is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for. Only one copy can be sold to the same person, excepting Members of Congress, or to libraries or schools.

Documents can not be supplied by this Office free to individuals, nor can they be forwarded in advance of payment.

Documents entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price named. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document, a double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable, and whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents give the name of the issuing Department, Bureau, or Division, and title. If publication is numbered give number also. Do not order by Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which several hundred thousand are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity.

In ordering, it should be borne in mind that most of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders, however, the best copy available is sent.

Lists on various subjects will be issued from time to time for free distribution. No general price-list of public documents is at present available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individulas, $1.10 a year, including indexes. Back numbers can not be supplied. Please notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change in address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and ½c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances should be made to the Librarian of Congress. Cards can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

CUMULATIVE INDEX

Beginning with July, 1909, the Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued separately each quarter and cumulates for half-yearly periods. That is, the September number of the Index indexes the Monthly catalogue for July, August, and September, the December number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for July to December, the March number is an index to the Monthly catalogue for January to March, and the June number will be the Index for the fiscal year 1910. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency may be sent at sender's risk.

Postage stamps, foreign money, uncertified checks, defaced or smooth coins will positively not be accepted.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba, or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

Notes of General Interest

The Library of Congress Select list of references on the cost of living and prices, for which there has been considerable inquiry, is now published and for sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 15c.

Newly issued numbers in the National Monetary Commission series are: The Bank of France in its relation to national and international credit, 20c.; Renewal of Reichsbank charter, 30c. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents.

That standard work of reference, the Statistical abstract of the United States, has been issued for 1909, being the 32d annual number. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c. in paper, 70c. in cloth.

Farmers' bulletin 397 is entitled Bees. It is a title which does not need any qualifying words, since it treats all phases of the subject in as comprehensive a manner as may well be done in a small pamphlet. Dr. Phillips, the bee expert, is the author. Price 5c.

Farmers' bulletin 406 treats its large subject, Soil conservation, in the clear and compact style of which its author, Professor Spillman, is a master. Price 5c.

The Senate Committee on Conservation of National Resources submitted June 11th a report (61st Congress, 2d session, Senate report 826) recommending the creation of a permanent commission on conservation, and also submitted a bill (S. 3719, which is not printed with the report) intended to accomplish this purpose. Unfortunately, Congress did not find time to act on the recommendation.

Librarians will be interested to note that the Library of Congress has put into print another chapter in its scheme of library classification, namely, Class J, Political science. It is a quarto of 340 pages and is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 40c.

Public health bulletin 35 discusses The relation of climate to the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c.

Entomology Bureau Bulletin 88, Preventive and remedial work against mosquitoes, by Dr. L. O. Howard, Chief of the Bureau, is a copious review of existing knowledge of the subject and is the precursor of a series which, as Dr. Howard says, will "bring about a measurably complete consideration of these annoying and dangerous insects for North America." He hopes to publish four more bulletins and a circular all relating to mosquitoes.

The large number of botanists and botanical students who are collecting sets of Contributions from the national herbarium will be glad to know of the issue of Part 1 of volume 14, Lichens of Minnesota, by Professor Bruce Fink. Sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 50c. in paper.

Labor Bureau Bulletin 86 contains several papers of unusual importance. One reviews the operation of the Canadian Industrial Disputes Act from April, 1908, to August, 1909. So much has been expected from this act, in the way of promoting amicable settlements between employers and employed, that its operation is watched with interest on both sides the border. It became effective March 22, 1907, and it is too soon to think of passing final judgment as to its value, but it has been invoked in many cases, and the history of these cases, as given in Bulletin 86, makes a chapter of some note in the great volume of labor literature. The act in question is not a compulsory arbitration law. It aims only to give each side an equal hearing before an impartial board, but does not bind either to accept the board's decision. Other papers in this bulletin are more sensational if not more important. One is on Phosphorus poisoning in the match industry in the United States. It is shown that Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Luxemburg, Holland, and Switzerland have prohibited the use of white phosphorus in match making and the importation or sale of matches containing this dangerous ingredient. The United States, however, still permits its use. Another article is List of industrial poisons—that is, of poisonous substances which are used in various trades and which injure the health of the workers. The list is long. Labor Bureau Bulletin 86, which was listed in the Monthly catalogue for May, 1910, page 677, is sold by the Superintendent of Documents at 20c.

NEW TREATY COMPILATION

A new and apparently very complete compilation of United States treaties has been prepared by Mr. William M. Malloy, under direction of the Committee on Foreign Relations (Senate), as authorized by Senate resolution 252, 60th Congress, 2d session, and with the cooperation of the State Department. Its title in full is: Treaties, conventions, international acts, protocols, and agreements between the United States of America and other Powers, 1776–1909.

It is in 2 volumes, and includes all treaties, etc., whether now in force or not. Though its period is ostensibly limited to 1909, it includes the conventions negotiated at the 2d Hague Conference, which were not proclaimed by President Taft till February 28, 1910. It includes also the conventions of the Central American Peace Conference, Washington, 1907, though the United States is not a signatory party to them.

The total number of pages in the 2 vols. is 2491. They are bound in buckram and sold by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.25 a volume. But the supply for sale is very limited. This often occurs, but in this case it is particularly unfortunate because of the fact that hardly any Government documents are in greater demand by the public than the various compilations of treaties, hundreds of volumes of the older compilations having been sold and the demand continuing unabated. The only "extra copies" ordered of the new compilation were 500 "for the use of the Senate." This order carried with it, automatically, the printing of the "usual number," so that the depository libraries will each receive a copy, each Senator four or five, each Representative one or two, and the 90,000,000 of the American people two or three dozen.

The Superintendent of Documents has authority to reprint for sale documents which are in demand, and the intent was that this authority should be general, but under a ruling of the Comptroller it is held not to apply to documents ordered printed by Congress. As the new Treaties, conventions, etc., is in this class (Senate document 357, 61st Congress, 2d session) the door is thus closed to all but a few of those citizens who may desire copies of their country's treaties with foreign powers.

YEARBOOK PAPERS

The papers written for the Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture, 1909, have been also printed in separate pamphlets and are on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 5c. each, except where a higher price is given, such prices being due to the presence of colored plates. Several of the titles are given here in brief form to illustrate the timely and practical character of the papers:

Farming as occupation for city-bred men.
Handling of deciduous fruits on Pacific Coast (10c.).
Methods and costs of marketing.
Plants useful to attract birds and protect fruit.
Prevention of frost injury to fruit crops.
Promising new fruits (30c.).

NUMBERING DOCUMENTS IN SERIES

Experience has established beyond question the fact that the numbering of small public documents is a safeguard for their preservation as well as a convenience in their handling.

In the case of Congressional publications, the numbered ones only are required by law to be sent to the depository libraries, and this requirement compels the Documents Office to be vigilant in seeing that no numbers are missing when the bound volumes are made up for the depository shipments. The numbering also enables the libraries to know whether they have full or broken sets. This of course is the case as well with individual collectors of documents, who are becoming more and more numerous. Documents which are issued annually or at other fixed intervals may be kept in line by their dates, which serve the same purpose as numbers. But the numerous public documents which are issued at irregular intervals without serial numbers can only be classed as "fugitive" publications. If they reach the Documents Office they are catalogued and preserved, but there are some—how many nobody knows—which do not reach the Documents Office, nor apparently any other place where record is made of them or pains taken to preserve them. In the closing hours of the recent session of Congress active search was afoot for a report on trusts which had been made only three or four years ago by a sub-committee of the Committee on Manufactures to the full committee. At the request of the Committee 10,000 copies were printed, but the document was not reported to the House as a report of the full Committee. Had this been done, it would have received a number and would have been preserved. As it is, not a single copy could be found when one was urgently wanted for special use by the Chairman of one of the most important House committees. Another case was that of a hearing on fictitious dealing in farm products published by the Committee on Agriculture in 1892, and much wanted by the Industrial Commission of 1898–1902. All "hearings" are "fugitive" publications, and after a long search but a single copy of the one in question was found, that being the copy in the Documents Office. An instance even more striking is that of the Journal of the Joint Committee on Reconstruction, a document of much historical interest, this Committee having been the one which formulated the 14th amendment to the Constitution. The Committee dissolved in 1867, but its Journal was not printed until 1884, from a manuscript copy which had belonged to Senator Fessenden of Maine, the chairman of the Joint Committee, who died in 1869. Six thousand copies were printed, but so far as known the only one in existence is the copy in the Documents Office. Vigorous searches have been made for other copies, but without avail. Columbia University has a manuscript copy, for which it paid $35 and which has been compared with the printed copy and found to be identical in all important respects. A typewritten copy has been made from the only printed copy for the Library of Harvard University.

The moral seems to be that there should not be any "fugitive" publications. There is no apparent reason why the committees of Congress should not have their "hearings" printed in numbered series nor why these publications should not be sent to the libraries for preservation as other public documents are sent.

NEW MEDICAL PUBLICATIONS

In the April number of the Monthly catalogue mention was made of the fact that 15 manuscripts of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service were delayed in publication for lack of an appropriation to pay for printing. This condition has been relieved and publication is being actively pushed. Hygienic Laboratory Bulletins 62–69 are already announced as in proof and their publication will promptly follow. The Service authorizes the following announcements as to the contents of the new bulletins. They will be on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at prices to be given hereafter.

Bulletin 62, by Ch. Wardell Stiles, is on the taxonomic value of the microscopic structure of the stigmal plates in the tick genus Dermacentor. There has been considerable difficulty in distinguishing between the various species of ticks, owing to the fact that it has been hard to find good anatomical characters for differential diagnosis. Dr. Stiles has now found that the microscopical structure of the plate surrounding the pores through which these animals breathe is an exceedingly valuable character, which makes possible an immediate differentiation of a number of these forms. The practical importance of distinguishing between the different species of ticks becomes evident when it is recalled that various species act as transmitters of disease.

Bulletin 63, by Murray Galt Motter and Martin I. Wilbert, is a third digest of comments on the Pharmacopœia of the United States of America (8th decennial revision) and the National Formulary (3d edition) for the calendar year ending December 31, 1907. It embraces the literature for 1907, the first year after the enactment of the pure food and drugs act, and contains references of special interest because of the approaching revision of the Pharmacopœia.

Bulletin 64, by John F. Anderson and W. H. Frost, is made up of studies upon anaphylaxis with special reference to the antibodies concerned. It is the fifth publication from the laboratory upon anaphylaxis, which, it is now recognized, has a most important relation to the fundamental processes of immunity and resistance to disease. As a result of these studies the authors believe it is possible to utilize the characteristic phenomena for medico-legal purposes in the detection and identification of bloodstains and also as a means for the differentiation of various proteids. In their conclusion they state as a result their belief that anaphylaxis is a step toward immunity, which may be conceived as an increased capacity for safely and rapidly eliminating the foreign proteid, and is remarkable among immunity reactions in the fact that the stage of hypersusceptibility is strikingly constant, well defined, and of long duration.

Bulletin 65, by A. M. Stimson, contains a resumé of our present knowledge concerning rabies and a discussion of the important problems confronting its students.

Bulletin 66 is a group of four papers: 1. The influence of age and temperature on the potency of diphtheria antitoxin; 2. An organism (Pseudomonas protea) isolated from water, agglutinated by the serum of typhoid fever patients; 3. Some considerations on colorimetry, and a new colorimeter; 4. A gas generator, in four forms, for laboratory and technical use. It is stated that diphtheria antitoxin, when placed upon the market for sale and there kept under unknown conditions as regards temperature, should not be labeled with a return date longer than two years and should contain an excess of at least 33 per cent to allow for decrease in potency.

Bulletin 67, by Atherton Seidell, is on the solubilities of the pharmacopœial organic acids and their salts, the conclusion being that in no case is it possible to predict from the solubility of the substance in water and alcohol separately what it will be in any mixture of these two solvents.

Bulletin 68, by Worth Hale, is on the bleaching of flour and the effect of nitrites on certain medicinal substances. A short resumé of the divergent views regarding artificial bleaching is given. Certain chemical and physiological experiments are recorded, showing that a deleterious action appears to result from bleaching because of the lessened digestibility of the gluten of the flour and possibly also because of the presence of definitely toxic substances, although these are present in only minute quantities. Also the bleaching process may produce harmful results on account of the presence in flour bleached by such processes of small amounts of the nitrites.

Bulletin 69, by Reid Hunt, treats of the effects of a limited diet and of various diets upon the resistance to certain poisons. A number of experiments were performed with cornmeal, preliminary to a fuller investigation of this food as possibly being involved in pellagra. It was shown that the resistance of animals to certain poisons is markedly influenced by articles of food which enter largely into the daily diet of man; some of these effects can be traced definitely to an influence upon the thyroid gland. The experiments show how undesirable effects of some foods may be compensated for by others.

RURAL DELIVERY COUNTY MAPS

Since Feb. 1908, the Topography Division of the United States Post-Office Department has been preparing maps of those counties in which the rural delivery postal system is completely established. At the date of this writing the number of such maps that have been prepared is 423, of which 2 are for counties in Alabama, 1 in Arkansas, 3 in Connecticut, 19 in Georgia, 38 in Illinois, 46 in Indiana, 54 in Iowa, 43 in Kansas, 1 in Maine, 4 in Maryland, 13 in Michigan, 35 in Minnesota, 38 in Missouri, 16 in Nebraska, 11 in New York, 1 in North Carolina, 29 in Ohio, 1 in Oklahoma, 7 in Pennsylvania, 8 in South Carolina, 13 in South Dakota, 11 in Tennessee, 4 in Texas, 2 in Virginia, 2 in West Virginia, and 21 in Wisconsin.

The county maps are on the uniform scale of an inch to a mile. They are drawings on tracing linen, copies being produced by the sun-print process, and only in response to special calls. Thus no editions are printed in advance of the demand for them.

Copies are sold by the Disbursing Clerk, Post-Office Department, at 50c. each.

LAWS OF THE RECENT SESSION

The unusually numerous and unusually important public laws of the 61st Congress, 2d session, which adjourned June 25, have all had their first printing, and the official catalogue entries of them, which have been made from month to month since Congress assembled last December, are completed in the present number. As is usually the case, the enactments, which were comparatively few in the early months of the session, came along thick and fast in the closing days, so that this Monthly catalogue contains more entries of public laws than all the preceding monthlies during the recent session.

The total number of laws passed, as announced by the Rolls and Library Bureau, State Department, is: Public acts, nos. 12 to 323, including no. 167½; public resolutions, nos. 7 to 51; private acts, nos. 2 to 170, except no. 60; private resolutions, nos. 1 and 2. The numbers 1 to 11, 1 to 6, and so forth, were passed at the 1st session.

The first form in which the new laws are printed is known as the "slip laws," each enactment appearing in a separate pamphlet or "slip," the most of them being but a single leaf. This first print is edited and published by the Rolls and Library Bureau, comparison being carefully made with the "rolls," which are the "enrolled bills," or originals of the acts, preserved in the custody of the Rolls and Library Bureau. These "rolls" are the authoritative copies of the laws.

The slip-law prints are recognized by the courts as the true text of the laws during the interval between their passage and the issue of the bound volumes of "session laws" or "pamphlet laws," as they are indifferently known. These are issued at the close of each session of Congress, but indexing, supplying side-notes, etc., cause an interval of some months after the close of the session before the pamphlets appear. At the expiration of a Congress, the enactments of its several sessions are brought together in a leather-bound volume known as the Statutes at large.

The Rolls and Library Bureau classifies the slip laws as "public" and "private," according to their tenor, and assigns to them their second series of numbers, which are not at all the same that they carried when they were "bills," and are also quite different from the numbers they will receive as "chapters" when they are printed in the Pamphlet laws and Statutes at large, and those of them which are permanent enactments will have still a further numerical change when they come to their final form as "sections" in the Revised statutes.

Slip laws are distributed by the Rolls and Library Bureau, State Department, and by the Senate and House document rooms at the Capitol. Usually the Superintendent of Documents has no supply for distribution by sale, but he is now able to supply the first prints of the laws of the recent session at the uniform price of 5 cents a copy.

Appended is a list of the more generally important slip-law numbers, with titles. Popular titles, or titles made up for the purpose of conveying information, are used in this handy list, not intended for the use of the accurate bibliographer but rather for the busy buyer, who, we may add, will serve his own purpose by using the numbers in ordering copies.

ANOTHER NUMERICAL SERIES

The Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service, which already had numbered series of Hygienic Laboratory bulletins and Yellow Fever Institute bulletins and a weekly magazine, is now in the field of medical and sanitary education with a series of Public health bulletins.

In this case, as in several previous cases in other bureaus, numerous treatises fitting into this series had been published before the convenience, and almost necessity, of numbering them was thought of. The result is that the first 30 numbers do not appear on the title-pages of the bulletins, and remaining thus imaginary or constructive numbers are of no aid to would-be recipients or buyers, and of only partial aid to the Bureau in handling the editions. Beginning with no. 31, Transactions of the Seventh Annual Conference of State and Territorial Health Officers with the United States Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service, the series will proceed with regularity. But why should it not have gone on in this commendable fashion from no. 1 instead of from no. 31? In this case doubtless, as in others, when the issue of "fugitive" publications, the waifs and strays of the document world, began it was not foreseen how many there would be nor how troublesome it would be to handle them by their long and unwieldy titles alone. This experience, with numerous similar experiences in various branches of the public service, may perhaps suffice to convince the heads of bureaus generally of the peril of issuing "fugitive" publications. The Documents Office has had a long and very intimate experience with United States public documents and has become fully and firmly convinced that no "fugitive" publications whatever should be issued. Though it may not be known that no. 1 will have any successors, it is highly probable that it will, and even if it should not a number on its title-page will do it no harm. If the highly probable successors do come along the no. 1 on the initial number will be the right thing in the right place.

Appended is a list of the first 30 issues in the new series with the numbers which have been assigned to them.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

NOTE. The publications of the United States Geological Survey consist of annual reports (restricted to one volume each, beginning with report for 1902), bulletins, Mineral resources, Professional papers, and Water-supply papers; and maps, Monographs, and folios of the Geologic atlas (issued in Library and Field editions) and the Topographic atlas of the United States, which are sold at prices ranging from 5c. to $11.00 each. A wholesale rate has been established for topographic and geologic folios (either Library or Field editions), whenever the sum transmitted solely for folios at the wholesale price amounts to at least $5.10; that is, a discount of 40 per cent will be given whenever 34 or more folios that sell singly for 25c., or their equivalent in higher priced folios, are ordered at one time. Address the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington. For topographic sheets see page 813.

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are used, 1 : 62,500, 1 : 125,000, and 1 : 250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch on the map. The size, unless otherwise given, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, exclusive of the margin, the width varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

More than one-third of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 5c. each; but in lots of 100 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 3c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.

NOTE.—The Patent Office publishes Specifications and drawings of patents, both in single copies and monthly volumes. The single copies are not enumerated in this catalogue but may be obtained for 5c. each at the Patent Office. Beginning with Jan. 1, 1910, the Superintendent of Documents will sell the monthly volumes at $5.00 per volume or $60 per year, and back numbers, prior to 1907, may be had at $3.00 per volume or $36 per year.

A variety of indexes, giving a complete view of the work of the Patent Office from 1790 to date, are published at prices ranging from 25c. to $10 per volume and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents. The Rules of practice and pamphlet Patent laws are furnished free of charge upon application to the Patent Office. The Patent Office issues coupon orders in packages of 20 at $1.00 per package, or in books containing 100 coupons at $5.00 per book. One coupon will procure a specification with drawing. These coupons are good until used, but are only to be used for orders sent to the Patent Office. For schedule of office fees, address Chief Clerk, Patent Office.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

NOTE.—In its latest price-list the Smithsonian Institution publishes this note: "The publications of the Smithsonian Institution are: 1, Contributions to knowledge; 2, Miscellaneous collections; 3, Annual reports; 4, Special publications. No sets of these are for sale or distribution, as most of the volumes are out of print. The volumes of Contributions and of Miscellaneous collections are distributed only to public libraries and to learned institutions and societies in this country and abroad. A small edition of the papers in these two series is printed separately for sale or exchange. The Smithsonian reports are regularly distributed by the Institution to libraries throughout the world, and only a limited number of the volumes remains to supply demands from other sources. No general mailing-list of individuals is maintained. The reports can be had by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. The papers printed in the annual reports are published separately for free distribution. Publications should be ordered by the serial number. Remittance should be made payable to 'Smithsonian Institution.' An application from a library should state the number of volumes in the library and the date of establishment, and have the endorsement of a Member of Congress." The annual reports are the only Smithsonian publications that are regularly issued as public documents. All the others are paid for from the private funds of the Institution.
